Library running out of room

Director says Antioch has one of the smallest staffs in the county

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Public Library trustees were informed by their director that the library is running out of space — quickly.

Observant patrons may have noticed it's getting a little tight as the building is becoming increasingly cramped.

"The next time I have to put shelves up, I will have to take away seating," warned Kathy LaBuda, library director.

LaBuda said there are no immediate plans for additional shelving this year.

She noted the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requirements demand there be at least 36 inches between shelves and furniture such as chairs and tables.

She added another problem could be staff location. The board may hire additional staff to meet with increasing usage of the library.

"We have to have a place to put them," LaBuda said.

If more staff is hired, more space will be required for desks.

She also noted the library staff is small in relation to the number of patrons.

"We have one of the smallest staffs in Lake County," LaBuda noted.

LaBuda said the next time a shelf is added at least two tables and four chairs will have to be removed.

She added she felt it was necessary to apprise the board now before the space issue becomes more of a problem.

The library hasn't had a building addition in 25 years and hasn't had a referendum in 30 years.

The board didn't discuss the space issue at this time and didn't plan a date to discuss it.

Schools look at redrawing district lines

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

It is a long, tedious task, but an educational group seeking an overall solution to the impending space crunch in Northwest Lake County is inching towards the home stretch.

The Northwest Educational Planning Group reviewed operating costs of five options which could lead to one school solution. Consultant Dr. Charles Caruso, a former Deerfield superintendent, provided the group with the first set of hard numbers to peruse.

The group is comprised of Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst village officials, chamber officials and representatives from Antioch Community High School and the five school districts which feed into the high school.

Craig Kressner, Lake Villa Elementary District board president, was encouraged by a financial finding. It indicated a proposed super unit district, including all of Antioch, Emmons, Grass Lake, Lake Villa and Millburn elementary districts, would keep the tax rate virtually the same for operating costs in Lake Villa, lower it in Millburn by 12 percent and lower it in Antioch by 2 percent.

However, Emmons taxpayers would have to pay 14 percent more and Grass Lake taxpayers would fork out 7 percent more.

Another complication in this scenario is it would require that Grant and Grayslake high school districts agree to cede territory in Lake Villa Elementary District and Warren High School District cede areas in Millburn.

Such a scenario met with widespread opposition in 1994 when supporters of a Lake Villa Unit District asked for a similar arrangement. Districts were unwilling to give up areas because they would lose assessed valuation.

Another consideration is the option would create a district with 7,000 students if it started tomorrow.

Other options include a super unit district See REDRAW page A10

Group looks at five options

The Northwest Educational Planning Group is considering five options to deal with burgeoning growth in area school districts. They are:

Status Quo

Current system stays intact, with Antioch Community High School and five separate elementary districts.

Super unit district

All of the elementary districts and the high school are combined into one district; requires Grant, Grayslake and Warren high schools to cede territory.

Super Unit without Millburn

Excludes Millburn School

Modified Super Unit

Includes only territory in Antioch High School District combining into unit district. Lake Villa school students not part of Antioch High School would have to annex to either Round Lake, Gavin or Grayslake elementary districts. Millburn students in ACHS district would have to detach from Millburn.

Modified Townships

Two separate unit districts would be created, with one comprised of Antioch elementary districts and Antioch High School. Lake Villa and Millburn would combine for a separate unit district which would need new high school.

Community supports athletes through 'Be on the Team'

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Area residents took time from their schedules to show their support for high school athletes with the "Be on The Team" program.

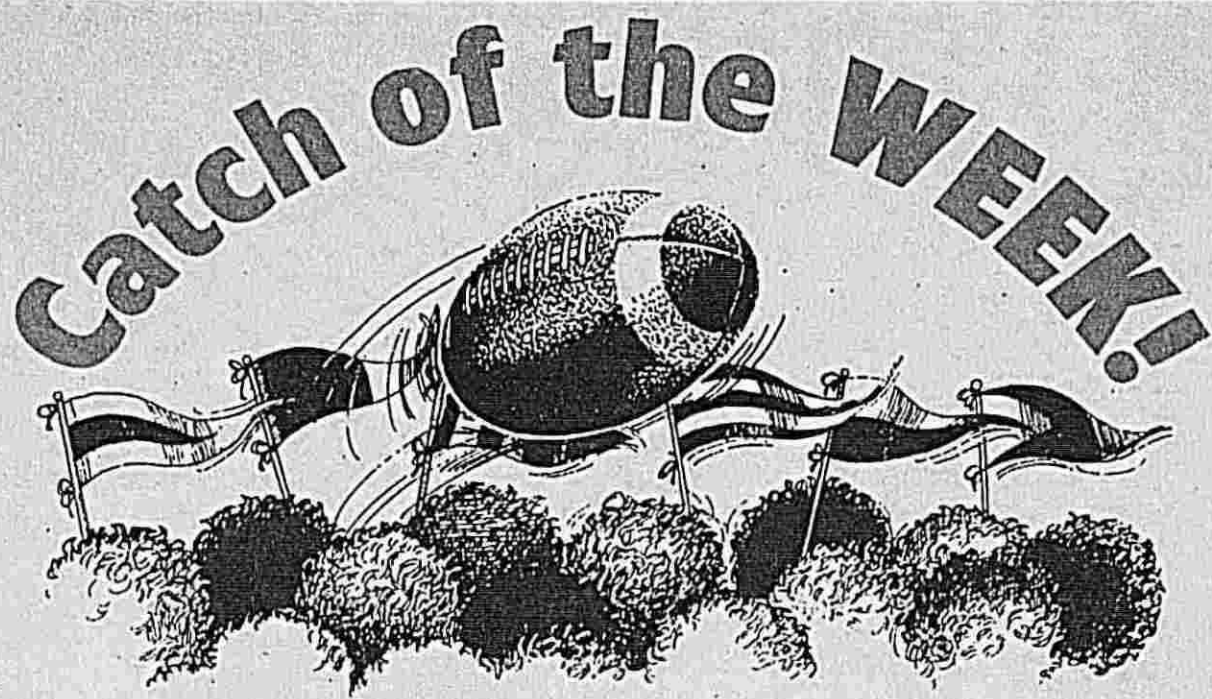

This is the third year of the program which emphasizes values and supports students and staff in the basketball program. This is accomplished by adults from churches and the community at large who are recruited to actively support the students and coaches during the basketball season.

They become teammates to a team member from one of the teams. The teammate writes letters of encouragement, attends games, and hosts the team member at an appreciation dinner at the end of the year.

'Winning basketball games is not what's important; caring for people involved is what matters.'

Ron Gillespie

"Our positive interaction with the administration has opened doors for the future development of a sense of community for the school," said Director Ron Gillespie. "People who may not have children attending the high school are now more informed See TEAM page A10

Village gets tough with eyesore home

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees are working to find a solution to a home on 428 Harden Street which no longer meets code.

"What we thought was a minor problem turned out to be a major problem," said Village Administrator Tim Wells.

Village officials were alerted by neighbors who were concerned with a porch in poor condition.

Wells said Bob Silhan, building inspector, inspected the house and found it to have numerous code violations and probably can't be spared.

The village has sent a letter to the attorney who is handling the estate.

The attorney will have 14-21 days to resolve the building code issues, according to Village Attorney Kenneth Clark.

Clark said if these violations aren't being dealt with, then the village will begin condemnation proceedings.

Officials indicate the estate has sufficient funds to demolish the house.

The board unanimously approved sending the letter. The village does have the authority to condemn the home if necessary.

Trustees explore parking problem on Harden St.

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Parking has become a problem on Harden Street and village officials will probe the issue for a solution.

Antioch trustees agreed to have village staff pursue options to alleviate parking violations on Harden Street from Victoria Street to Stafford Street.

"We need to look at some options," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

Village Administrator Tim Wells noted there appears to be a problem with student parking at the location.

Trustees suggested changing the parking time allowed to a later hour.

"Nothing we have seems to fit," Wells said referring to the current parking hours allowed in the village.

"Maybe we should have no parking during the weekdays," said Trustee Dorothy Larson.

Shineflug mentioned the several options need to be explored so there can be one which is most appropriate.

One of the main concerns is finding a solution that isn't too restrictive that it negatively impacts residents.

Wells said the village attempted to get a parking consensus from residents two or three years ago without success. However, he suggested the village ask the residents again because the sentiment appears to be different than on previous occasions.

There is no timetable for when the issue will be brought back to the board for further discussion.

Call it a day

NICC derby returns for angling action

Once again it's time to hook up the tip-ups and try your luck at the biggest ice fishing tournament in the county.

Northern Illinois Conservation Club's Chain O' Lakes Ice Fishin' Derby and Winter Festival is set for Feb. 8 and Feb. 9.

"Our attractions are planned to involve all age groups and interests," said Tom Pientka, NICC derby chairman. "Ours is the granddaddy of winter sports and family fun events in the state."

There will be prizes awarded for the largest and smallest fish in each of the 10 categories at each location hourly. Overall contest winners in each of these 10 categories will receive cash prizes.

Back by popular demand is the ice shanty contest, on Feb. 8, only beginning at noon. Cash prizes will be awarded for best original design and most unusual.

Activities for children include kids' carnival games, penny raffle, a space walk and a coloring contest.

There will be both an adult and children's auction. The children's auction begins at 3 p.m. on Sunday at Wasz's Resort. The adult auction will follow.

A variety of food will also be available. Tempt your belly with choices like breakfast sandwiches, hamburgers, hot dogs, chili, dessert along with plenty of hot and cold beverages.

The raffle, held at the end of the derby, main prize is to either Puerto Vallarta or Cancun along with other prizes. The drawing will be held at Wasz's at 5 p.m. Sunday.

All the proceeds from this event help the NICC to underwrite educational, preservation and conservation programs, maintain wetlands and open space on conservation grounds and nature preserve and allows them to work with the Illinois Department of Natural Resources and other groups to help conserve and preserve nature areas in Northern Illinois.

The headquarters is at Wasz's Resort on Channel Lake with satellites at K. & S. Kempf's on Petite Lake and Pink Harrison's on Pistakee Lake.

Contest hours are from 8 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturday and 7 a.m.-2:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Raffle tickets are available at many bait shops, restaurants and from NICC members. They cost $2 each or $5 for three.

Major sponsors are Antioch Auto Parts, Robinson Wholesale Inc., Rinella Beverage and First National Bank of Antioch.

Downtown history focus of community effort

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees proclaimed 1997 Antioch's Downtown History Year.

The proclamation kicks off the work of a history committee devoted to uncovering the history of the downtown buildings. Bob Lindblad, president of the Lakes Region Historical Museum, is chairing the effort.

"It's amazing what you can find out just by listening to people,"

Lindblad said.

The goal of the committee is to identify all buildings 50 years and over and uncover the history behind them.

This project is seen by officials as another way of bringing people together and instilling pride in the community and the downtown as whole.

"It's a very exciting time for us," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

Shineflug pledged the village will provide any assistance to the committee.

Lindblad added the committee will look at resources immediately available and talk with as many people as possible.

He said he has been seeing people who have already provided additional information.

The group doesn't have a set meeting schedule as of yet and is looking for a few more volunteers. To volunteer, call Claude LeMere at 395-6342.

Gunman faces grand jury on home invasion charges

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

Enver Hukic, 21 is being held in the Lake County Jail with bond set at half a million dollars following his invasion of a home in College Trail subdivision Jan. 28. Hukic resides in the 200 block of W. Montrose in Chicago.

He will face the Lake County Grand Jury, Feb. 19, where he is expected to be indicted and will go before Judge James Booras for presentation of formal charges Feb. 20.

He was charged initially after being arrested by the Grayslake Police Department with home invasion, unlawful use of a weapon and possession of cannabis with the intent to deliver and possession of a controlled substance with the intent to deliver.

Hukic's arrest was the result of a home invasion in the 1000 block of Cambridge Drive. Apparently Hukic went to the home to collect money from the victim's son for a drug debt. Grayslake Administrative Sergeant Matt McCutcheon said the homeowner offered to pay with a check. At this point Hukic forced his way into the home and produced a gun.

The victim was able to place a 911 call to the Grayslake police but all he could say was "there's a man with a gun in my house," before hanging up, McCutcheon said. Hukic reportedly threatened to kill him if he didn't hang up the phone.

When police arrived, Hukic was found to be in possession of a Taurus .357 revolver loaded with six rounds.

After being brought to the station he was also interviewed by detectives from the Northlake police department in connection with a drive by shooting that occurred at a residence in that town. According to Northlake Police, he is expected to be charged.

Youth injured in snowmobile crash

JEFF PATERSON
Staff Reporter

A tragic snowmobile accident on Feb. 3 has sent a Fox Lake youth to the hospital with serious injuries.

Fox Lake Police say Stephen Casterline, 14, of 117 Nippersink Blvd., was driving a snowmobile northbound on the channel beneath the Grand Ave. Bridge, shortly after noon, when he lost control of the machine.

The machine and Casterline, the only rider, struck one of the bridge's concrete pilings at approximately 40 miles per hour. Although he was wearing a helmet at the time of the accident, Casterline suffered serious injury to his head and was taken by Flight for Life to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

He is in pediatric intensive care and is listed in critical condition.

Stephen's father, Bill, said Stephen had called home just prior to the accident to ask permission to go snowmobiling while he was visiting with friends, after receiving a good report card from Stanton School.

Casterline added that the community has been very supportive during this difficult time.

In an effort to prevent any further such accidents, Fox Lake Police would like to remind the public of the following points regarding snowmobile operation:

- No person under 10 years of age may operate a snowmobile.
- Persons at least 10 and less than 12 years of age may operate a snowmobile only if they are either accompanied on the snowmobile by a parent or guardian or a person at least 18 years of age designated by a parent or guardian.

ent or guardian.

- Persons at least 12 and less than 16 years of age may operate a snowmobile only if they are either accompanied on the snowmobile by a parent or guardian or a person at least 16 years of age designated by a parent or guardian, or such operator is in possession of a certificate issued by the Department of Transportation authorizing the holder to operate snowmobiles.
- Any person operating a snowmobile on a highway shall possess a valid motor vehicle driver's license or possess a snowmobile safety certificate. Any such person under 16 years of age shall also be under the immediate supervision of a parent or guardian or a person at least 18 years of age designated by the parent or guardian.

Police and FBI hunt for bank robber

SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

The First of America Bank, 1180 Dato Lane, was robbed on the first break of harsh, cold weather in Wauconda.

A male white suspect walked in to the bank at around 11:30 a.m. Jan. 31 and walked out with an undisclosed amount of cash, said Assistant Police Chief George Roberts.

"He approached a teller, displayed a hand gun, and presented a note demanding money," Roberts said.

The suspect left the bank within minutes after arriving, and fled the bank in a newer model white or light colored car, possibly a Ford 4-door, Roberts said.

No customers were in the lobby at the time of the robbery, and no one was injured, Roberts said.

The vehicle was last scene traveling north on Route 12.

Police are asking for help in identifying the suspect and or vehicle, and are asking anyone who may have seen the vehicle in the area of Route 12 or Bonner Road, or in the bank parking lot, to give them a call at 526-2421.

The suspect was described as being approximately 40 to 50 years old, with a medium build and between 5-foot-8-inches and 5-foot-10-inches tall. He had a round face, light complexion, aged skin and possible dark curly brown hair.

At the time of the robbery he was wearing dark colored lens sunglasses, a green jacket with a possible dark blue hooded sweatshirt with the hood pulled over his head.

Further investigation into the robbery will be conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigations.

So this is what winter is in northern Illinois

Well folks, winter has definitely arrived in the great northern Illinois region and once again people are grumbling and complaining about the cold and the snow. I myself, have no problem with our wintry weather. I am one of those people that think any day where the temperature reaches over 70 degrees is too hot. I have no problem with shoveling snow or raking leaves, but when it comes to mowing the lawn—well Neal dear, the job is all yours.

Of course, my diversion from the heat probably stems from the mere fact that as a female I am unable to work up that total body sweat that only men can achieve. Wives you know the state of which I talk, the one where hubby spends two hours pushing a mower through the hay field you call a front lawn, then comes into your kitchen dropping all over your freshly scrubbed floor, that lovely watery substance known as sweat from every pore, limb and hair follicle. Let us not forget the bits of grass and leaves plastered to every portion of wet, exposed skin. And what does this sopping man want? A cold beverage? A cool towel? Oh no, no, no.

He wants to give his darling wife a hug—Oh the romance in that. Give me a cold winter day any time. Winter is all in your attitude, and your mode of dress. There is nothing more irritating than standing outside listening to half dressed people moan and whine about how cold it is. Yes, Virginia this is February, this is Northern Illinois, we do live north of the Mason-Dixon line and yes, winter is upon us. So, don't stand there complaining to me in your open-toed high heels, miniskirt, coatless, mittenless, hatless and senseless. Now, I would never wish ill on anyone, but folks if you fit this bill, you are certainly asking for a really, really nasty case of pneumonia or frostbite. These are the kind of people I wouldn't refrain from directing a smug little laugh at, or pointing a little finger at if, while standing there, one of their ears fell off and splattered itself on the sidewalk. I don't know if I could even muster up enough compassion the bathing suits, shorts, and tank tops. After all, this is February. Why would you think you would be able to find winter wear. This is the time you should be gearing up to purchase your summer wardrobe. You see you have to shop for all these winter related articles in July of course, how silly of you to want to buy them now. Oh sure, you might be able to find a mismatched pair of mittens on the Clearance Rack in the back room of some store, but don't expect to find a coat or pair of warm boots because if this is February you are about six months too late to purchase such winter garb. Perhaps that's why there are so many undressed, and unprepared for winter, people standing outside in the bitter cold dropping their exposed appendages on the pavement below. Who thinks about shopping for coats, jackets, boots, mittens, scarves, hats, leg warmers and nose warmers in July. We are much too busy fending off that lawn-mowin', sweat-infested, huggin' husband.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to

—ANTIOCH PARK HAPPENINGS— Park offers creative drawing for kids

Young Rembrandts

A creative drawing program for children ages 3 to 12 emphasizing drawing and observation skills. Lessons are designed to match the ability and interest of different age groups. All materials are supplied. Each session is unique and does not repeat earlier lessons. Class is 45 minutes long. This class begins Feb. 28 and is held on Fridays at 4, 5 or 6 p.m. for four weeks. Call Park district.

Me, Myself and Mom

The Antioch Parks and Recreation Department announces limited openings in the Mom and Tot program designed to introduce two and three year olds to organized activities. This program gives children a chance to share with others in a semi-structured environment. Spaces remain on Fridays from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Kids basketball

Antioch Parks and Recreation is holding registration for all basketball programs. The Parks office has expanded its basketball offerings this year include ages four through adult. Four to 8 year olds include boys and girls. If your have a future all-star in your house, or a little one who just likes to play ball, call for details.

For the 13 to 16 year olds, an instructional pick up class is offered. High quality instruction includes the physical and mental parts of the game both as an individual and team player. This offers teens a chance to sharpen their offensive and defensive skills as they learn to play from both sides of the court.

For the adults, an open gym is offered at the Antioch High School on Sunday evenings from 7-9 p.m. for $1 per person per evening. To register call the park office.

For information on these or any other Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept. programs, call 395-2160.

Chamber prepares for first Business Expo

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

While it may be early for residents to think about the event, business owners and Antioch Chamber of Commerce officials urge businesses to participate in the first ever Antioch Business Expo.

The Expo is slated for March 22-23 at Antioch Community High School and will provide residents with more information about area businesses and give businesses greater exposure to potential customers.

"We want to give businesses in the area more exposure," said Dee Dee Palmer, chairperson for the event. "It will give people a chance to see the different businesses."

Not only will there be informational booths but fun and healthy activities as well.

Planned events include face painting, cholesterol and blood pressure screening and stress testing.

Chamber President Ed Cimaglio said he hopes at least 60 businesses participate.

The cost for a booth is $250 for chamber businesses and $300 for non-chamber businesses. For more information call the chamber office at 395-2233 or ask for Palmer at 395-2700.

In another chamber related matter, the chamber, village and Fox Waterway Management Agency sent representatives to the boat and recreation show at the Rosemont Horizon. This was the first year the three entities combined to attend this event.

"We had a lot of people come and talk to us who didn't know about Antioch," Cimaglio said.

Valentine's barn dance

A Valentine's barn dance, a traditional square dance, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 8 at the Park District's Legion Memorial Building, 42 South Seymour in downtown Grayslake. This is the fourth dance in the 1996-97 series of square dances presented by the Grayslake Community Park District. The dances are held the second Saturday of the month and feature the calling of "Uncle" Roy Reinholds.

CLC can help small businesses

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Giving small business a boost was the focus of the last Antioch Rotary Club meeting.

Linda Jorn, director of the Small Business Development Center at the College of Lake County outlined some of the ways the department assists all types of small businesses.

"If we don't have the information, we know where to go to find the answer," Jorn said.

Jorn explained the organization counseled 5,000 individuals and businesses last year alone.

She mentioned they are expanding their small business resource center.

One can find more than 200 start-up kits describing how to begin and manage almost any type of business.

Also provided is information which helps existing businesses.

"We counsel a lot of businesses that have been around for 6 to 8 years," Jorn said.

The center was started in 1986. It has since merged with the adult continuing education center.

Jorn added the goal is to provide more seminars and workshops which will allow workers to improve their skills and do it at an economical price.

On hand to provide further guidance is the retired corps of business executives. These executives are from a broad cross section of businesses and lend their expertise.

The group has a profit maximization program which helps business owners learn ways to improve their income and cut expenses.

Supporting families strengthens community

The Parent Group, a program of Central Baptist Family Services has an opening for a volunteer to facilitate the weekly Waukegan parent self-help group. All seven groups are open to parents who want to learn new strategies that will help them raise healthier, happier children. Volunteers provide leadership to the group in coordination with the group parent leader and empower parents to support each other. Since 1992, the parent group has helped thousands of parents deal with parenting concerns and make changes before serious problems can start.

Volunteers should possess a minimum of a bachelors degree and have some knowledge of parenting styles and group dynamics. Volunteers receive training and support throughout their placement. If interested in helping families and willing to make a year commitment to facilitate one of the support groups, call Amy Hudson at 263-7272.

Library jumps on information superhighway

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Public Library patrons can jump on the information superhighway.

The library now has two computer terminals connected to the Internet. Those who don't have a computer can find out what computer people are talking about.

"It's really for people who don't have a computer and want to find out more about the Internet," said Kathy LaBuda, library director.

LaBuda said there won't be E-Mail accounts and people won't be able to dial in and access the library's Internet service.

There will be one terminal set up in the children's area and that is expected to be completed this week. Until then, children may use the terminal in the adult section.

The library prepared for some time in anticipation of getting the Internet online. The board approved an Internet policy which stresses intellectual freedom and puts the onus on parents to monitor what their children are viewing on the Internet.

LaBuda added the board decided to start out small with the Internet and see how the public responds to the new service.

"We will start out small and if demand is greater, we will endeavor to keep up with demand," LaBuda said.

The library staff will assist patrons with any questions they might have regarding the service.

This is another vehicle library officials are using to stay current and provide updated technology to patrons.

For more information about the Internet call the library at 395-0874.

including four of the districts and excluding Millburn. Oddly, this option actually costs the districts slightly less money. This option was met with serious opposition from Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk.

"It would split our village," Baumunk said.

Currently Lindenhurst students attend three elementary districts and two high school districts.

Another option called for two unit districts with a Lake Villa Township unit district and an Antioch Township unit district. This plan would be the lowest cost option for Antioch districts.

The Antioch elementary rate would decrease 3.4 percent, while Grass Lake would have a 5.6 percent increase and Emmons a 12.9 percent increase.

Emmons and Grass Lake rates rise at any option because they currently have a high assessed valuation while having fewer students at the present time.

The Lake Villa unit taxpayers would pay more in terms of tax rate at 4.325 percent. However, Millburn residents would pay less than do at the present time.

Dr. Alan Simon, Lake Villa superintendent, noted Millburn and Lake Villa numbers are more uncertain because both districts expect to have the most growth in the next five years.

Millburn is projecting to triple in student population by the 2000-2001 school year while Lake Villa expects 500 more students by the same period.

Officials cautioned these are but preliminary numbers on operating costs this year. They don't take into account projected growth, debt from existing districts and other factors such as state aid.

Another option being considered is a modified super unit which would include only the area within the existing Antioch High School boundaries.

The entities are searching for a solution which meets five criteria: organize new district boundaries around existing township, village or school boundaries; honor community bonds that develop around the geography of school locations; be attentive to elementary and high school programs that are effectively articulated; achieve fair financial commitments across districts as it applies to per pupil spending and tax rate; demonstrate the opportunity for better quality of education; and that it be politically feasible.

The group has met for about a year and has agreed to these options and the criteria. Now the true number crunching and soul searching begins.

"In general, one should assume that any reorganization will cause an increase in the overall taxes for the majority of the people. It can also be assumed that the taxes will go up even without reorganization because of the projected growth in the area," Carusso said.

The group compared the options based on the criteria to determine which are the most popular ones. Not reaching a consensus, the group agreed to break up and consider the options so they can whittle away the best ones.

Once the options are whittled down to two, then those can be further explored and discussed.

and have grown to show appreciation for the staff and students.

"The students have learned to interact with adults within the community and have benefited for the experience. Be On the Team believes that relationships are the key to community and community is key to respecting and helping one another."

They also held a "Be On The Team Day." After the game, a pizza party was held which gave an opportunity for teammates to meet with the school's staff, team members and their parents Jan. 11.

More than 250 students, parents, coaches, school officials and community leaders were in attendance for the recognition dinner last year. During the dinner a team member will be honored as the Be On the Team Player of the Year.

This year's dinner will be held April 5 at Antioch Free Evangelical Church. Paul Burton, one of the top punters in the nation, will be the featured speaker.

The program helps strengthen relationships within churches and the school. More than 60 members of six different churches are participating. The churches include: St. Peter Catholic Church and Antioch Evangelical Church from Antioch, St. Mark Lutheran Church in Lindenhurst, Prince of Peace Catholic Church and Lake Villa United Methodist Church in Lake Villa.

"Being involved with the program, the teammates make a very positive contribution to the school and community. Winning basketball games is not what's important, caring for people involved is what matters. The Be On The Team program continues to show that personal relationships between people from local churches, the high school and the community can make a positive difference within our world," Gillespie.

The program also emphasizes spirituality.

"We help to give values and the love of Christ," Gillespie said.

Sequoits shock on NSC mat, gain 2nd

English, Hlinak, Brandimore, Ultes take titles

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Bob English only has to look to the stands to find needed inspiration for important matches such as a North Suburban Conference wrestling title.

The Antioch High junior beat Sid Richards of Lake Forest 11-3 for one of four championships for Antioch in the 112-pound class. ACHS was the surprise of the tournament, gaining second place behind Libertyville.

"I want to dedicate it to my mom because she is always at all the meets and my dad because he has been ill," English said, referring to mom Carol and dad, Dan English. "It really got to me that this is my last year."

The Sequoits will have further chances at post-season glory and close to home when they host a regional Feb. 8. Grant is expected to be a top challenger.

English defended his title at the weight class despite feeling the pain of an injured shoulder.

Also earning championships for the Sequoits were Ryan Hlinak at 103 pounds, Joe Brandimore at 139 and Jeff Ultes at 179.

"We took pressure off the kids. We wanted to get third place. To surpass Stevenson is a tremendous accomplishment for the young guys," ACHS coach Ted Sieckowski said.

Antioch finished with 155.5 points, beating Stevenson's 151. Libertyville won the meet and the See SEQUOITS page A12

Sequoits look to regroup, Groth adds 25

The efforts of Sam Graves and the Stevenson High School boys basketball team to become a complete package have had parallels since Christmas time.

Graves has expanded his game on offense and defense as the Pats made a case for a first-round sectional home game with winning five of seven games. The only two losses in that stretch came to North Suburban Conference co-leader Warren and Mid-Suburban Conference power Prospect.

The Pats answered an Antioch rally with a strong run in the third period for a 77-65 win Friday, the last game before the Waukegan sectional seeds were announced.

Stevenson is at Libertyville Feb. 7 before hosting Lake Forest Feb. 8 in 7:30 p.m. battles with contenders. It was a win over Libertyville at Christmas tourney action which started the Pats' better efforts.

"We live and die with defense. We started to apply pressure and it creates offense," Graves said. He scored 19 points, but the defensive work in practice is something the 11-9, 4-6 NSC team takes particular pride in.

"It seems like someone always steps up. We all have had to click," Graves said. Graves, Anthony Logan, Jason Legg and Clayton Shortall all came up to some tough freshman season.

"He is a classy player. He took it to the whole and ran different positions on the floor. What I liked about him is he took what they gave him - he did not force it," Stevenson coach Ken Johnson said. "He is such a power player. He can take the outside shot, the jump shot he showed a real mix. It is something he has been developing since Christmas."

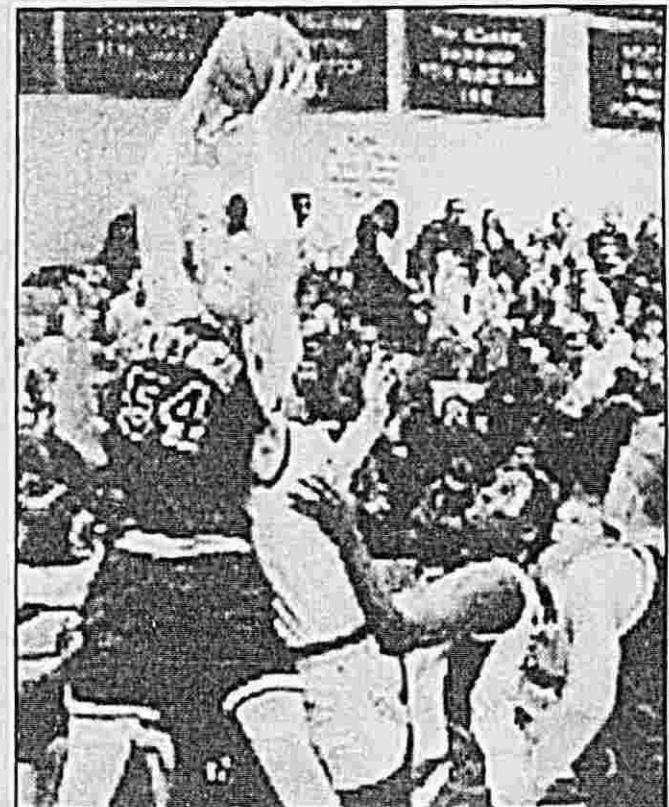

Intensity on defense set the tone as ACHS could not get any offense going in the first quarter. They were able to take nine points off a 13-point lead with a second and early third period run. Chris Groth's (9-of-15 for three's for 25 points) three-pointer at the buzzer to end the first half and a basket by Kevin Chudd cut the lead to four points.

But Graves and Darrin McMahon (11 points) led the home team's charge which boosted the lead to 20 early in the fourth.

"We knew we could not let Gooch and Groth get away," Johnson said. Gooch finished with 9 points.

"We got a bucket and got it down to four points. Then they went on a big run," Antioch coach Jeff Dresser said.

ACHS fell to 7-11, 3-6 NSC.

NSC title with 172 points.

English knows that the lower weight classes are important to the team's overall success.

"We had a lot of changes from last year with all the seniors leaving. The lower weights have been strong and we know we have some of the best wrestlers in the state in Ultes, Timi Cizanskas (second place at 189) and Justin Tripplett (third place at heavyweight)," he said.

Ultes was ahead in his match with Chad Blomgren of Libertyville and won by a fall in 4:53.

"My coach said we had the points and to go for the pin," Ultes said.

Ultes said he has worked on his techniques much this year. His status as a 31-1 wrestler makes him one of the leaders of this young ACHS squad.

"He has matured quite a bit," ACHS coach Ted Sieckowski said. Brandimore edged out Sebastian Sanchez of Stevenson 6-4 for the 130 pound title. "Joe is a very quick wrestler and he is smart," Sieckowski said.

Hlinak downed Mandy Thompson of Libertyville 10-4 for the crown at 103. "He is a freshman, but he does not wrestle as one, the coach said.

Also earning points for ACHS were: Dave Sorokowski with a fourth place at 119; Jake Crammond with a fourth-place finish at 140; Steve Smart with a third-place finish at 160 with a win by fall over Brian Hall of Warren High.

Defense paces ACHS girls

Intensity on defense and patience on offense is what coaches hope for at this time of the girls basketball season.

Those qualities were just what Antioch High fans saw as the Sequoits doubled the score on Mundelein, 42-21 in a North Suburban Conference clash.

"It was one of our best games. I was pleased with the defense. On offense, we ran a pattern offense and found the open person," ACHS coach Dave Woods said.

Carrie Gofron led the ACHS scoring effort with 16 points and Nicole Langly had 11. "I was pleased Nicole came out of her slump," Woods said.

The defense turned its attention to Mundelein guard Courtney Nye. "Carrie guarded her and it was one of our best defenses of the year. We limited them to one shot," Woods said.

Marsha Letto was the only Mustang to reach double figures, with 10 points and one three-point basket.

ACHS improved to 8-12 overall and 4-6 NSC while the Mustangs fell to 9-12, 3-8. The game matched the first-round opponents Feb. 17 in the Libertyville sectional. The game will be played at ACHS.

Last week had another strong effort for ACHS as the Sequoits lost a 36-30 decision to Lake Forest.

Gofron had 10 points and Langley 8. "It was close throughout - we had the lead cut to four points with two minutes to go and we were in a position to win it," Woods said.

On the injury front, Lisa Ipsen was felled by a knee injury.

ACHS is at Zion-Benton Feb. 8 at 2:30 p.m.

Rams girls gain league victories

Grayslake High's girls basketball team notched two conference wins in four days as the Rams continued to improve for the upcoming Libertyville sectional tournament.

The Rams downed Marian Central 51-31 and Round Lake 54-46.

Laura Mendralla scored 12 points and center Jenny Wessel 10 against the Hurricanes. Frosh Carrie Hovik added 9. The Rams overcame a 12-5 first quarter deficit as they allowed the Hurricanes only single digit scoring the rest of the way.

Against Round Lake, the Rams used a 14-7 third quarter to pull away. Senior Sandy Sneyd had 16 points and Wessel added 10.

Junior Mikomi Takaki had 12 for the Panthers and Kristy Nichols had 11.

"Our defense was pretty good, but we had a couple of breakdowns at the end and we missed some front ends of free throws. We also forced some passes," Round Lake coach John DeBeck said.

Grayslake concludes the conference season at Johnsburg on Feb. 11.

'Slapshot' raises awareness for organ donor network

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

When Lakeland Newspapers' classified sales accountants Greg Benyak and Dave Sherman join the well-known Hanson brothers on the ice Saturday night, they will not only be skating with their folk heroes they will be raising awareness for the need for organ donations.

The Hanson brothers are the long-haired taped-glasses trio who rose to national fame with their starring roles in the 1977 comedy hit movie "Slapshot" which also starred Paul Newman. The Hanson brothers in real life are Dave Hanson, Steve and Jeff Carlson.

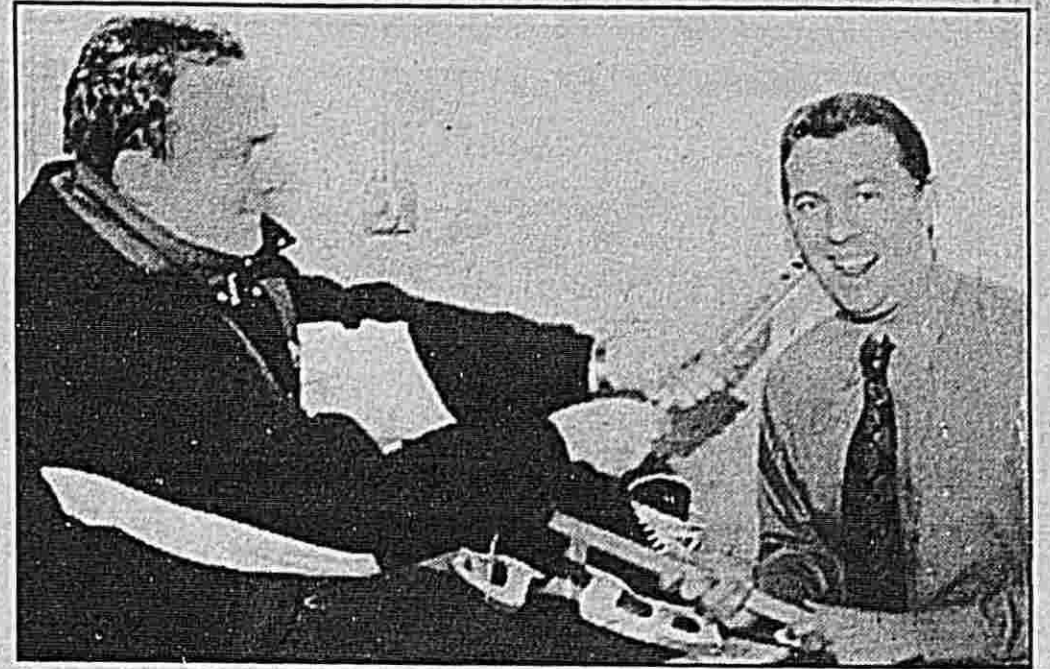

Benyak and Sherman are participating in the Wisconsin Donor Network's Rock 'N' Jock Hockey event at the Kenosha County Ice Center, Feb. 8 beginning at 7 p.m. Admission is $6.

"The event is an awareness campaign for the Wisconsin Donor Network to express the need for and the benefit of being an organ donor," said Mario Bory, spokesman. "During the second intermission we will have families of donor recipients and donors together."

The regional approach to the donor awareness campaign was started this year by the Wisconsin Donor Network.

High speed, fiery crash under investigation

Three lives claimed on Rte. 83

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

The identities of the three young men killed in an accident which engulfed their car in flames have been released but the cause of the accident remains under investigation.

The accident occurred on Route 83 Feb. 2 around 1:15 a.m.

The families of the three young men were notified Feb. 4 that the victims were positively identified.

The victims are: the driver Joshua Smith, 21, of Libertyville; Alfronzo Barnes, 18, of North Chicago, a cousin of Smith; and Jason Koziol, 22, of Vernon Hills.

According to Jim Whipper, chief deputy coroner, toxicology tests are being conducted on all three victims. He expects an inquest will be held in a month when a six member jury will be presented with the investigation findings from the Grayslake Police Department and the coroner's office and rule on the manner in which the accident occurred.

"We don't know where they were coming from or going to. They were last placed around 9 p.m. at the Koziol residence and from the information we have they were going to a show," Whipper said.

Preliminary investigations point to speed as a factor in the crash with the driver exceeding the limit of 45 mph due to clear weather and pavement at the time, according to Grayslake Administrative Sergeant Matt

McCutcheon.

The three had to be identified by dental records after being severely burned when the vehicle was engulfed in flames.

According to Whipper the cause of death for Koziol was multiple traumatic injuries as a result of the injuries he suffered in the accident. Barnes and Smith died as a result of a combination of injuries from the accident and fire.

Grayslake police responded to the scene after they were notified by a cellular call.

The car, a 1990 Pontiac Firebird, apparently veered from the road and struck a tree. The Grayslake Fire Department was called to the scene to extinguish the fire and the victims were pronounced dead at the scene by the Lake County Coroners Office.

Mayor bears distinction of election technicality

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
JEFF PATERSON

While several Lake County political candidates are undergoing challenges to their petitions, Round Lake Beach Mayor Ralph Davis bears the distinction of being the only mayor to have an electoral board rule against his candidacy.

While citing conflicting testimony and case law, as well as division among its three members, the local electoral board of Round Lake Beach has sustained an objection filed against the Beach 2000 slate of incumbent Mayor Ralph Davis.

The entire issue hung upon a single black metal binder clip. Davis claimed that such a clip bound his Beach 2000 slate's nomination papers and petitions when he submitted them to Clerk Sharon Fyfe for filing on Jan. 13.

Objectors and former village employees Roy V. Ronning and Sandra Hombs claimed in their objection that Davis' papers were not fastened together when filed.

Because the Illinois Election Code calls for such documents to be fastened together "at one edge in a secure and suitable manner," the objectors held that the documents were filed incorrectly and that the Beach 2000 slate should not appear on the April 1 ballot.

The electoral board's findings were released on Feb. 4, with Trustee Mike Francis splitting with Trustees Rich Hill and Gina Miosi. Noting no clear evidence to determine if a clip was present prior to filing, the board found 2-1 that the Beach 2000 papers were not bound when presented for filing and that the objection filed should be sustained.

Speaking after the ruling by the electoral board, Davis said that he planned to have the the decision reviewed before the Circuit Court in Waukegan and that he was confident to win on appeal.

Capitol escort

Newly elected State Senator Terry Link (D-30th Dist.) escorts Gov. Jim Edgar to the podium prior to an address at the capitol. Link was elected in November. One of the first bills he has sponsored would change the primary to the third week of June.

Sheriff Del Re elected to NICASA Board of Directors

Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re has been elected to NICASA's Board of Directors. His election was announced by board president Henry Weishaar vice president of human resources for Abbott Laboratories' Hospital Products Division.

Prior to his appointment as sheriff in October 1996 and his appointment as undersheriff in February 1994, Sheriff Del Re served 21 years with the Buffalo Grove Police Dept. where he rose to the rank of commander.

"Sheriff Del Re's experience will be helpful in assisting with NICASA's criminal justice services," said Judy Fried, executive director. "His years in law enforcement will most certainly enhance the agency's efforts to reduce problems related to alcohol and other drug abuse."

Last July, as undersheriff, Del Re attended the Police Executive Research Forum, executive Development Program held in conjunction with the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University. The sheriff has a bachelor's degree in business administration from Columbia College and has done graduate work at Northeastern Illinois University majoring in U.S. History.

For the past eight years he has served on the staff of Northwestern University's Traffic Institute.

donor waiting list in the Kenosha area alone," said Bory. "Additionally, there are 50 recipients of organ donations in the Kenosha area."

Bory says events such as Rock 'N Jock Hockey are fun for the spectators while helping the donor network accomplish its goals.

Benyak and Sherman became involved in the hockey game after participating in a radio contest with WIL-FM of Kenosha, the main radio sponsor.

"Actually, what happened is one of the workers in our composition department called on me to participate in a radio trivia contest because they knew I was a hockey fan," said Benyak, who is a season ticket holder for the Chicago Wolves. "I didn't actually know I was volunteering to play in the hockey game."

Benyak says although he is a hockey fan, he has never actually played the game himself.

"I'm just hoping I can still stand on my skates. I haven't skates since I was a kid," Benyak said. "I think they asked me to participate just so they'd have some organs ready for donation."

Sherman was talked-into participating by Benyak.

"At least I have played hockey, but it was just on an intramural league back in college," Sherman said.

Both agree the opportunity to skate on the ice with the Hanson brothers is worth a few spills.

"This is just such a great opportunity to skate with the Hanson brothers and it is a good cause," Benyak said.

Other local celebrities playing in the event are from WIL radio: Tom Kief, John Perry, John Dickinson, Brian Sherman, Sean Hirsch; former Milwaukee Admiral players: Fred Berry, Al MacKenzie, Dan LaCours, Yves Preston, Cal Roadhouse, Jeff Hiltz.

Jerry Houser also of "Slapshot" fame will open the ceremonies and play on the white team.

Benyak is assigned to the blue team, Sherman to the white team.

Tickets to the event are available by phone (414) 223-4848 or at the door. The Kenosha County Ice Arena is located at 7727 60th Ave., in Kenosha, (414) 694-8011.

Davis said he could not elaborate on the basis of his appeal, but indicated that it could bear in part upon procedural irregularities during the electoral board hearing.

Citing the support shown by the 332 signatures on his slate's nominating petitions, Davis termed the objection as an attempt to "take the (election) decision out of the hands of the voters."

"It's a slap in the face to all these people (on the petition) to say that they don't count," Davis said. "It's the voters that suffer in something like this."

Lake County Elections Administrator Susan Ewalt said the number of objections raised for the April election is not unusual.

"Whenever you have a local municipal election, the number of objections seems to rise," Ewalt said. "We saw the same thing with precinct committeeman last March, several of their petitions also met objection."

Any individual who has an objection sustained by a local electoral board has the option of filing an appeal within 10 days.

If Davis loses on appeal, he can appeal to a higher court and still has the option of declaring his candidacy as a write-in candidate. The deadline for making such a declaration is the Tuesday prior to the election.

"That can be a very difficult decision for a candidate because Illinois law is very specific about how an absentee ballot must be cast," Ewalt said. "So, there is a lot of voter education that must happen for that candidate to be successful."

Lake County receives equalization factor of 1

Lake County has been issued a tentative property assessment equalization factor of 1.0000, according to Ken Zehnder, director of the Illinois Dept. of Revenue.

The property assessment equalization factor, often called the "multiplier," is the method used to achieve uniform property assessments among counties, as required by law. This equalization is particularly important because some of the state's 6,600 local taxing districts overlap into two or more counties (e.g. school districts, junior college districts, fire protection districts.) If there was no equalization among counties, substantial inequities among taxpayers with comparable properties would result.

The assessed value of an individual property determines what portion of the tax burden a specific taxpayer will assume. That individuals portion of tax responsibility is not changed by the multiplier.

Village may expand plant

LINDENHURST—Village officials received tentative approval from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for the expansion of the sewer treatment plant. The village is seeking a $5.3 million low interest loan to expand the existing sewer plant to accommodate growth in the Lindenhurst area for the next 20 years. Village officials project a population of 22,500 20 years from now, according to the application provided to the IEPA.

Most of the new growth is expected to be in the eastern section of the village along the Route 45 corridor. An estimated 2,500 units are expected in 20 years.

Village officials report the current sewer plant's capacity will be reached in three years if growth estimates are correct.

The IEPA will require an environmental review process and a public hearing, plus design plans before granting full approval, according to Al Graver, northern district supervisor. —by ALEC JUNG

False police report alleged

LAKE VILLA TOWNSHIP—Township Supervisor Sue Hanson is incensed Township Clerk Lynn Hoffmann filed a police report alleging candidate election papers were stolen from her office Feb. 1.

"If she filed a report it's a false police report," Hanson said.

Hanson said she was the one who went into Hoffmann's desk to retrieve some papers which should have been sent to the Lake Villa Township Electoral Board.

Hanson added Hoffmann called her at 3:15 p.m. and said her desk drawer was ajar. The police report was filed at 3:20 p.m.

Hanson claims Hoffmann should have kept the records in a filing cabinet where they could be accessed. She said she was advised by the township attorney to get the records because they were needed by the county and Hoffmann couldn't be reached.

Rodney Brown of the Lake County Sheriff's Department said the desk was opened but there were no signs of forced entry. No further action or investigation is expected.

Hoffmann wouldn't comment on the alleged theft. —by ALEC JUNG

Kids to offer services at fair

BEACH PARK—The "Youth Summer Job and Business Expo" in Beach Park will showcase more than 30 booths featuring eager young workers presenting their services to adults.

The fair is open to ages 8 through 16. Some of the services registrants are offering include pet sitting, dog washing, a baked goods sale and face painting. Some are even marketing their services as clowns after learning in the village's clowning class.

"We definitely do want a lot of adults in attendance," said organizer Barbara Braim. "I want a good turnout so the kids don't get disappointed."

The fair will be held Saturday Feb. 8, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Beach Park Village Hall, 11270 W. Wadsworth Road. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Firm fined for wall failure

GURNEE—A Chicago company has been fined for the collapse of a free-standing wall at Woodland Middle School's new Almond Road site.

The firm is Crouch-Walker of Chicago, which was fined $4,000 by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. The fine was announced after meetings between OSHA representatives, general contractor Frederick Quinn Inc. and school officials.

"They are a subcontractor hired by Quinn. The biggest question is the cause of the collapse and now we know," Dr. Dennis Conti, Woodland superintendent, said.

The company was fined for inadequate bracing of the wall. The collapse injured one worker on Oct. 11. The accident took place on a late Friday afternoon and involved the collapse of a large, free-standing cinder block wall, which had the domino effect of knocking down other walls and part of a roof area, causing just under $1.3 million in damage.

The $1,260,650 reconstruction cost for the damaged wall area was settled in late November and paid by the insurance companies, Coregis Insurance of Chicago and

Gallagher, Bassett Insurance of Chicago. School board members learned at their latest meeting the district has received its share. —by STEVE PETERSON

Defibrillators on board?

paramedics, which does not happen too often.

Currently the Illinois Department of Public Health requires a 40-hour certification course, and the American Heart Association requires a 10-hour course, officials said. Should the EMS coordinators reduce the certification time, the village would be more apt to enter into the program.

"We do not want to go into a program until we know what we may be mandated to do in the form of training," said Village Administrator John F. Dixon. No other police departments in the area have officers certified to operate defibrillators. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Bank robber still at large

WAUCONDA—The Federal Bureau of Investigations and the Wauconda Police Department are on the lookout for the suspect who robbed the First of America Bank late last week.

The bank, located at 1180 Dato Lane, near the intersection of Route 12 and Bonner Road, was robbed at around 11:30 a.m. Jan. 31 by a white male, police said.

"He approached a teller, displayed a hand gun, and presented a note demanding money," said Wauconda Assistant Police Chief George Roberts.

The suspect left the bank carrying an undisclosed amount of cash within minutes after arriving, and fled the bank in a newer model white or light colored car, possibly a Ford 4-door, Roberts said.

No customers were in the lobby at the time of the robbery, and no one was injured, Roberts said.

The vehicle was last seen traveling north on Route 12. Police are asking for help in identifying the suspect and or vehicle, and are asking anyone who may have seen the vehicle in the area of Route 12 or Bonner Road, or in the bank parking lot, to give them a call at 526-2421. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Youth injured in snowmobile

FOX LAKE—A tragic snowmobile accident on Feb. 3 has sent a Fox Lake youth to the hospital with serious injuries.

Fox Lake Police said Stephen Casterline, 14, of 117 Nippersink Blvd., was driving a snowmobile northbound on the channel beneath the Grand Ave. Bridge, shortly after noon, when he lost control of the machine.

The machine and Casterline, the only rider, struck one of the bridge's concrete pilings at approximately 40 miles per hour. Although he was wearing a helmet at the time of the accident, Casterline suffered life-threatening injury to his head and was taken by Flight for Life to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

More periods for LHS

LIBERTYVILLE—High school board members settled whether to extend school day by approving a nine-period schedule that will take effect next school year.

The board of education voted in favor of the nine-period day earlier this week after the high school's teachers union voted in favor of the new schedule as well.

Both the teachers' union and board votes came just in time for fall registration which began Wednesday.

Students will have the option to attend school from 7:20 a.m. to 1:40 p.m. or from 9:10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Bus service would be offered only before third hour and at the end of ninth hour.

"The extended day becomes necessary because if our enrollment projections are right, we will find ourselves unable to house our education programs for a lack of facilities," said Superintendent Dr. Donald Gossett. —by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Towing fees go up at Ernie's

VERNON HILLS—Although towing rates for the police department increased, Chief Gary Kupsak believes Ernie's Wrecker Service in Vernon Hills provides the best service in Lake County.

Of course, all rate increases are billed to the vehicle owner, but all tows initiated by the Vernon Hills Police Department are referred to Ernie's Wrecker Service.

Accident tows, for example, increased from $75 to $125, while tows for abandoned vehicles increased from $65 to $95. Evidence tows jumped to $95 from $65 as did tows resulting from arrests, such vehicles left after DUI.

The village board approved the rate increases under its current contract with Ernie's Wrecker Service justified the rate increases as a result of higher operating costs for equipment, wages and insurance.

"Those fees Ernie is asking are well within the fees Lake County pays," Kupsak pointed out. "Ernie probably does the best job of towing. He gets everything off the road we ask him to."

Ernie's also does the towing for vehicles on the I-94 as well as the villages of Mundelein, Buffalo Grove and Lincolnshire. —by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Villages give residents a ride

LIBERTYVILLE—Seniors and people with disabilities will still pay only $1 for a bus trip around the Libertyville-Mundelein area in spite of increased costs from Pace.

The two villages have shared the costs of the Dial-A-Ride program which transported seniors on about 14,000 journeys during 1996, said Pace spokesman Blaine Krage. The intergovernmental agreement provides service within both villages and other portions of Libertyville Township. Riders must be disabled or at least 55 years old.

"We supply the service; the villages run it," said Krage. "The decisions are made by the towns that run it."

Both villages have approved the arrangement, Mundelein at their Jan. 27 meeting, Libertyville Jan. 28. —by SUZIE REED

Suspect to face grand jury

GRAYSLAKE—Enver Hukic, 21, is being held in the Lake County Jail with bond set at half a million dollars following a home invasion in College Trail subdivision Jan. 28. Hukic resides in Chicago.

He will face the Lake County Grand Jury Feb. 19 where he is expected to be indicted and will go before Judge James Booras for presentation of formal charges Feb. 20.

Hukic was arrested by the Grayslake Police Department following a home invasion in the 1000 block of Cambridge Drive. Apparently Hukic went to the home to collect money from the victim's son for a drug debt, and forced his way into the home with a gun.

When police arrived Hukic was found to be in possession of a Taurus .357 revolver loaded with six rounds.

According to Northlake Police he is also expected to be charged in a drive-by shooting incident in that town. —by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Needed funding may be corrected

This may be the time for political leaders to replace rhetoric with real money when it comes to funding the Stormwater Management Commission (SMC), a creature of the Lake County Board that has been suffering from financial malnutrition since founded nearly a decade ago.

In a locality where flooding occurs regularly three seasons a year, need for aggressive action to control stormwater never has been questioned. But neither has the agency been funded properly. The political climate of the County Board being what it was in recent years, SMC actually went backwards at one stage, going from $1,293,828 its third fiscal year to $872,000 its fourth fiscal year. With no funding for programming, the annual budget has been designed to sustain professional staff. Funding for 1996 stood at $942,042.

New appreciation for the role of stormwater management may be evidenced by a 17 percent increase in the fiscal year 1997 budget. The SMC chairman, Gurnee Mayor Richard A. Welton, says the budget reflects a "proactive approach," a much needed and welcome change in attitude, we hasten to add.

In the commission's annual report, Welton called attention to attacking flooding and drainage problems on a watershed basis. He noted that 100 violations were processed and a closer working relationship with municipalities has been accomplished. County Board Chairman Robert Grever, a commission member from 1991 to 1996, pledged support.

The change of County Board leadership bodes well for stormwater and floodplain management. SMC has excellent professional staff. The coming months will tell the story whether the agency will be given financial dentures or remain a "toothless tiger."

Parks utilizing team approach

Tax-hungry park districts are finding that partnerships ease the roadway to expansion. It's a form of privatization that governmental bodies increasingly are turning to to ease taxpayer burden.

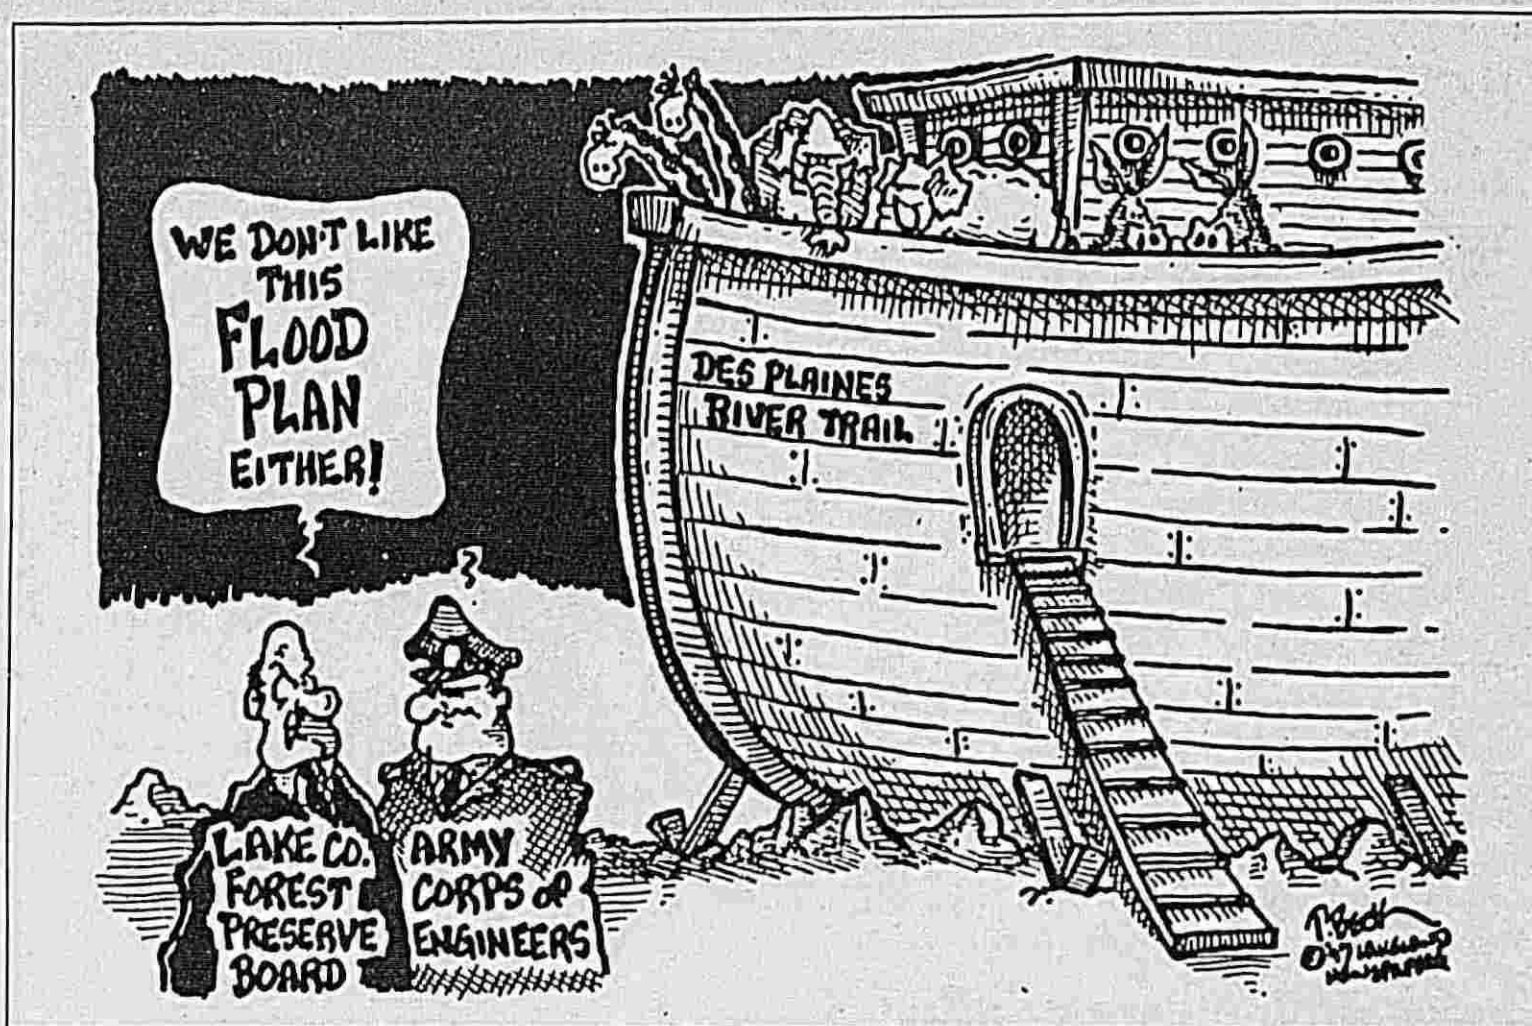

Key to plans of the Gurnee Park Dist. to build a $21 million leisure center is a $5 million commitment from Lake Forest Hospital to construct an independent business and sports medicine facility that will be part of the complex. Grayslake Park Dist. is interviewing prospective partners to help build a community center.

The partnership approach makes a lot of sense. Whether they are from the private sector or are not-for-profit, the partners are in a position to assume a considerable portion of the tax bite while using public funds, in effect, to leverage their investment. By giving up a "piece of the action," public bodies are able to make big ticket construction projects feasible.

Hunt Club Leisure Center, proposed for a 46-acre Gurnee site, would contain both indoor and outdoor swimming pools, a gymnasium, a running track and a concessions area. To make the center a reality, residents will have to pass a $15 million bond issue. As an inducement for support, residents will be given a 25 to 30 percent price break on user fees.

Elected officials in rapidly growing—and changing—communities like Grayslake and Gurnee know there is a hunger for recreational and fitness facilities. There's only one way to find out how deep the public support is. Put the question to a vote as in the case of a referendum April 1.

—Viewpoint— Altogether now, push for the news

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Last week's stroll down newspaper memory lane in the form of a special supplement was meant more to reflect on the time line of one family's involvement in publishing than personal aggrandizement.

Don't get me wrong. The bouquets tossed this writer's way were appreciated. Writing a book may be a singular involvement, but editing a newspaper involves lots of people and lots of help, not the least of the effort coming from you, the reader.

There isn't a newsman alive who doesn't treasure a good news tip from the readership or a timely news release. A well-written letter to the editor is like money from home (well, almost). A great many photo ideas originate with subscribers. In short, editing business is a cooperative effort, you and the newspaper's staff.

Here's looking to the future, traveling this road together.

HOME FRONT—The Michael Ditkas, thank you, will be maintaining a Lake County address even though "Dah Coach" is plunging into uncharted waters in New Orleans as he returns to the sidelines after a four-year interlude.

Wherever he goes and whatever he does, Mike Ditka's roots will be in Chicago so maintaining their home in Bannockburn makes sense. Ditka's new Saints team conducts summer training at LaCrosse, Wis. And Coach Ditka will have his latest restaurant, Iron Mike's in Chicago, to look over from time to time. He'll be back. Maybe just as important, wife Diana has a host of friends in these parts, mostly with her golfing contacts.

The Ditkas have a special place for Lake County in their hearts. Their first home here was in Arbor Vista off Rte. 45 between Mundelein and Grayslake when the enduring coach was called by Papa Bear George Halas to rescue the floundering Bears.

ANTI-GAMBLING—While a small clique of politicians and promoters continue to extoll the virtues of riverboat casino gambling, the U.S. Postal Service is warning employees about the dangers of compulsive gambling.

In the Employee Assistance Program newsletter (EAP), postal workers were warned that compulsive gambling disrupts every aspect of a person's life. "The compulsion of gambling is a compulsion to lose."

Because they're accustomed to computer games and hooked on excitement, the EAP bulletin said adolescents are three times more likely to become problem gamblers than adults. Fine thing. While one phase of the government condones legalized gaming, another part preaches about the dangers of gambling. Figure that out.

COUNTY TOUCH—Lake County has its share of residents serving on state boards appointed by the governor. Lynn B. Foster, 61, Highland Park, and Mary Ann MacLean, 54, Libertyville, have been reappointed to the Illinois State Museum Board. Pennie J. Beattie, 54, of Lincolnshire, a consultant, is a newly appointed member of the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission. John A. Clemetsen, 61, Long Grove, was reappointed to the Illinois Endangered Species Protection Board.

COMING SOUTH—Residents of a stateline area north of Antioch say there is a method to the madness being heaped on them by Wisconsin Power & Light in extending a new high voltage line through prime farm lands from the Pleasant Prairie generating station to Salem in west Kenosha County. Against heated opposition, the utility is pushing through the line, at points only a few hundred yards from the stateline. Opponents reason WisPower is positioning itself to deliver cheaper power to Illinois customers when deregulation of power utilities occurs in two years.

FISH COUNT—As soon as the ice melts, state fish biologists will be checking to see how the 3,300 nine to 12-inch muskie fingerlings survived the Chain O'Lakes winter. The muskie stocking was conducted last year by the Fox Waterway Agency with the cooperation of several local muskie clubs.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Grandson John is looking forward to a family pizza party to celebrate his third birthday Sunday. Pop is wondering, though, if John is attracted more by the pizza or the electronic game machines at his favorite spot?

Another mayor succumbing to common ill: Kingdom fever

SUZANNE HARRIS

A Kingdom, a Kingdom, our quality of life for a Kingdom.

Once again a village mayor has joined the race to build his kingdom. Round Lake has revealed plans which begin with the Pritzker Property of 1,822 residential units and the annexation of 1,400 purposed residential units.

The Northeastern Planning Commission study done for Lake County stated Round Lake has enough infra-structure, such as schools and roads, in place to handle another 3,500 people by 2010. The purposed developments will add another 10,000 more people into the village who will require services, so who will pay?

Round Lake residents are paying a tax rate of 9.98, the second highest in the county. Its average income is $30,951, one of the lowest in the county. Compare that to Bannockburn with a tax rate of 5.308 or Lake Forest with a tax rate of 5.112 with an average income of $94,824.

So, why is Mayor Jim Lumber approving all of these high density, tax burdening, residential developments? Why is he willing to tax the back of his residents whose incomes are below the county's average and are burdened enough?

I have always believed Jim Lumber, the mayor, is a fair and honorable man so it cannot be. See KINGDOM page C5

PARTY LINES

Petition challenges show 'another way to win'

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political opinion, is prepared from staff reports.

The spring primary election is heating up in the court room, as opponents find scrutinizing petitions is one way to try to knock off the competition.

Davis

Among the biggest to fall in an electoral board challenge thus far, is Mayor Ralph Davis of Round Lake Beach. In a decision at the local level Monday, the challenge to Davis' petition was upheld by a vote of 2-1.

Village Clerk Sharon Fyfe, who is running with the slate of former Mayor Carl Schrimpf, charged Davis' petitions were submitted loose, which is a violation of Illinois election law.

Davis claims the petitions were secured with a black binder clip. Three of four witnesses—Fyfe, Carrie Butler, deputy clerk and Dirk Myers, an independent candidate for mayor, said it was not so.

The only supporter to Davis' claims was Sandy Miracle, Davis' secretary.

Even rival Schrimpf, who Davis defeated by three votes four years ago, couldn't substantiate the claim.

Two of the three election board judges Gina Mlosi and Rich Hill, ran on the "Rescue the Beach" slate opposed to Davis, two years ago. The third judge was Michael Francis, who voted to deny the petition.

All three judges are current Round Lake Beach trustees.

Davis plans to appeal to the county clerk's office for a final hearing on the challenge.

Lake Villa gate—In Lake Villa Township, there is not a single candidate who has filed that has not had an objection raised to his petition.

Among the objections:

- Township Supervisor Sue Hanson is not a current township resident. Hanson sold her home in Apache Trail and is waiting for another home to be completed. Her husband and children are living in a home in Antioch Twp., while Hanson claims to be staying with a friend in Lindenhurst during the week and with the family on weekends.

The objection was made by Concetta Kane, daughter of current assessor Kathy Kane, who is running on the True Party slate opposed to Hanson.

- Other charges against Hanson's Key Party, include trustee candidates not filing the proper address on petitions and following the wrong procedure for crossing out signatures.

- Objections have been filed against True Party candidates including Kane for obtaining signatures without the petitioner being present and with addresses incorrectly printed on the bottom of signatures.

- Independent highway commissioner candidate Terry Agonah has been challenged for allegedly signing his own petitions and had several printed and handwritten notes.

The Lake Villa hearings were to be held, Feb. 6.

In Vernon Hills—Trustee Don Hook who is seeking to retain his seat on the board, submitted an objection to the nominating petitions of trustee candidate Bill Wolff.

Hook is charging Wolff's petition falls short of the 136 required signatures of qualified voters after several people were found not to be registered voters, names printed not signed and 12 obtained illegitimately. The hearing has been continued to Waukegan, Feb. 6.

Hook

not signed and 12 obtained illegitimately. The hearing has been continued to Waukegan, Feb. 6.

Mall chase—In the Village of North Barrington, the mayor's race and the mall race are one and the same. Incumbent Village President George Lorrain, a proponent of the mega mall planned for Rte. 12, is being challenged by Trustee Scott Payne, a mall opponent. Supporters of Payne, a professional photographer, hope the mall question won't be decided before election day April 1.

Alternate choice—Speaking of the huge regional shopping center, reports are circulating that Wauconda might be an alternative if North Barrington rejects the southwest Lake County mall. In this case, Wauconda Mayor Jim Eschenbach would have to make a choice in a community where new development is considered a swear word by many voters.

Eschenbach

Bid farewell—Family and friends of Frances "Fran" Wilkins said their good-byes last week at funeral services at St. Mary of Vernon Church. An active Republican since becoming eligible to vote 50 years ago, Frances always backed party endorsed candidates. She was employed in the Vernon Township office 23 years. She was the unofficial historian of Prairie View. Loaded with spunk and determination, Frances fought back from a serious illness only to be run down by a hit-and-run driver. Injuries kept her hospitalized the last two years of her life.

Fojtik

Question—Will former County Board Rep. Ed Fojtik continue a custom he and his wife, Judy, started years ago of distributing sweetheart boxes of chocolate at the annual Grant Township Republican Club

Lincoln Day dinner now that he no longer is in office? For the answer, be among those present Saturday night, Feb. 8, at Maravella's Restaurant, Ingleside.

Stepping down—Bruce Bossow, one of the original directors of the Fox Water Agency founded in 1985, has only three more months to serve. The McHenry County real estate broker's term expires May 5 and he's not standing for reelection. Bossow resides in Cary.

Sign of the times—Owners of the shuttered Tops Restaurant in Mundelein have taken a political stand with their banners, and are now urging voters to support a new administration.

They claim Mayor Marilyn Sindles and Administrator Ken Marabella forced them out of business. The restaurant closed voluntarily last summer after owners claimed they were denied a promised liquor license. Village officials said John and Andrew Christofalos failed to follow procedures to apply for one.

No matter who is sitting in the mayor's office, however, restaurant owners who want to apply for a liquor license will still be required to submit necessary documents of ownership. The village ordinance also prohibits issuing a liquor license to anyone with a criminal record.

Deja vu?—Former Lake Zurich Mayor Henry J. Paulus was close to becoming a candidate to reclaim the post he left in 1989. A number of people encouraged Paulus to seek a fifth term as mayor, gathering a couple hundred signatures for two different slates and providing financial support. However, it was Paulus who made the decision to bring the effort to a halt.

"I was flattered that they thought that much of me to ask me to run," he said.

Paulus served as mayor from 1969 to 1989, before retiring. He has served on the Village Zoning Board of Appeals board since 1993, and just completed a two-year term as chairman of the Village's Centennial Commission.

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Air bags offer answer

Editor:

A few years ago, I read in an outdoor magazine of flotation devices for three and 4-wheel ATV's. These were required by law in some midwestern state (I can't recall which) are made of plastic pipe capped at the ends. Also, some were made of bags inflated.

Any machine going out on ice was required to have flotation. The article in the magazine showed a partially submerged vehicle with a driver on it. We have the technology: air bags.

All we need now, is good judgement the developer's money. The only other reason would be Kingdom fever, a disease that infects many mayors in Lake County. A "Kingdom" that in later years, when the mayor has retired to Florida, he can look back and say, "I built that."

But like all Kings, he forgets that his Kingdom was really built on the sweat and blood of its residents.

Editor's Note: Suzanne Harris is co-chair of the Impact Coalition of West Lake County. She is a resident of Long Lake.

Rule overlooked

Editor:

I live in Lake-in-the-Hills but work in Libertyville and do most of my shopping there also.

What I do not understand, is why all the plazas and shopping centers, except for Cambridge Plaza, have and seem to enforce the "no parking fire lane" strips. Why does the village of Libertyville not enforce this rule at Cambridge?

I have been there (many times) and watched a police car pull in, park in a parking space, go into the bagel store for coffee, and never issue any of the cars parked in the fire lane a ticket.

I have watched children come out of the book store and run out into the drive area from in between cars and almost get hit. Sometimes you cannot get into the business you want to use with out walking around two or three cars, it has cut my usage of that plaza and I am sure I am not the only one who has stopped using it.

Lake-in-the-Hills

Public hood-winked again

Editor:

Instigator of bow deer hunting in a long-established wildlife sanctuary Brent Manning, director of the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources, now assumes the role of protector of wildlife, urging taxpayers to continue contributing to the Wildlife Preservation fund on their state income tax forms to help "Illinois' wild animals and plants survive into the future."

He states that since its inception the fund has received almost $3 million tax dollars in support of our state parks and recreational sites. He waxes lyric of the pleasures they offer: "the soothing call of a whip-poor-will—a charming, secluded state park lodge—a graceful red-tailed hawk as it soars in the clouds"—but says nothing of the horrors of the annual animal slaughter by hunters in pursuit of recreation, nor of the deprivation of use of the grounds by non-hunters during the hunt.

This manifest contradiction by Director Manning between words and deeds can easily be explained by the increasing domination of the Department of Natural Resources by hunters, their goal the perpetuation of hunting by people of all ages and physical condition.

Ninety per cent of taxpayers are non hunters, the majority opposed to the killing of wildlife for sport. Over the years many of them have donated tax dollars in support of what they presumed to be wildlife preservation as stated on the tax form, totally unaware until this tragic bow deer hunt became public knowledge that this same state wildlife agency soliciting these funds was also actively encouraging and supporting recreational hunting of wildlife.

But no longer will the public be duped of its dollars. Only when the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources begins to change its policies and focus to concentrate its efforts once again on the honorable discharge of its duty to protect and conserve animals in the wild will public-spirited pro-wildlife taxpayers resume checkoff of wildlife preservation on their state income tax forms.

Great plans

I just want to say that the mayor and the village have some great plans for Lake Villa for 1997. McDonald's and softball fields seem to be more important than the schools. It's also interesting that it doesn't seem like a Mayberry anymore to me. There's not even a place to buy an apple, let alone grow one. They should start getting tough with building restrictions, although I think it might be too late.

Find hospital funds

Mayor Hamsher, Bud Scott and assorted playmate morons: Listen, the gambling boat is a terrific idea. What I would do is take all the funds some 30 years ago that were allocated and collected for the Lakeland Hospital. It seems to me you were all in favor of it. I'm glad you're soothsayers. Maybe you can find that money that disappeared 30 years ago into someone's pocket and put it toward the gambling boat. Then maybe I'll believe the pie-in-the-sky pictures I see on the front page of the paper. Bud, Ken, give it up. Why don't you move to Florida with the rest of your cohorts and stay there.

Forgot environment?

The area residents of unincorporated Antioch are forgetting the most important aspect of sewers, the environment. Our septic systems were installed decades ago to accommodate seasonal residents. Now most of us live here year-round and the former systems can no longer accommodate a family. These faulty systems are not only leeching into the soil, the clay runoff is polluting our lake. If you don't believe it, open your window on Route 173 on a summer evening and take a whiff.

Laws ignored

My husband and I moved into the community of Lake Zurich, we pay high taxes, and knew they had zoning laws, and as we call around to enforce zoning laws, they are just ignored. They wonder why people are angry. I feel the village has to get their act together. Every direction there is such a turnover they just don't care if there are other things going on in the other parts of village. They are consumed with building new buildings and commercial development, they don't care about what goes on in other parts of the village.

Clear walks

On a very serious issue in Lake County, they have to make a more serious effort to clear sidewalks; the sidewalks in Lake Villa and Lindenhurst force people to walk in streets and highways. There needs to be a better system to clear sidewalks, so that people don't have to walk in highways. Walking on a highway is a death trap. Mayors wake up... do something before someone gets killed.

Need referendums

Do Grayslake residents want to finance a pool and community center? I say we should have two referendums. One on each proposal. We absolutely cannot depend on garbage people to pay and maintain these expensive buildings. Village administrator Michael Ellis says even taxes cannot be lowered to deliver on their projections, by inaccurate resident surveys. Further, we can't depend on using a gimmicky motive of "free candy." Put it to the people for referendum and let voters decide. Time is running out. Have newspapers run a full article and leave out the propaganda, let voters decide and we will live with it. Don't sneak this past us, or there will sure be an uproar come election time, and perhaps for years to come.

Depke undeserving

In my opinion, Bob Depke doesn't deserve anything to be named after him. And shame on those 12 Lake County board members who voted on his behalf for the renaming of the juvenile detention center in Vernon Hills.

Too petty

Regarding the comments concerning people writing letters about smoke from fireplaces, I'm calling on a day when it's 50 below zero outside, and find that remark is ludicrous seeing that if they open their windows they would be frozen anyway. I think they can think of other things to complain about.

Tax time

I hope all of you remember how Mayor Davis put a tax on everything he could legally tax. If he ever got a home rule passed, he would have found a way to tax the air we breathe.

Please explain

In response to "Saving you money," please explain your comment on expenses and unique equipment. The last I saw, the village had a back hoe and trucks, shovels, etc. to dig down to the main. As far as training, anyone can be trained to put a repair sleeve on a main break with only a couple hours of training. I know I've done it. Your comments on the fire hydrants show how much you know. The state and fire service have codes stating the nut on the cap top is 18" minimum from the ground. This is to insure that when the wrench is used, it will make a complete turn when the taking cap off. So be sure to get your facts straight.

Riverboat ref

Well, the politicians and our "esteemed village board" will lead you to believe that the riverboat in the Fox Lake area is best thing since sliced bread, don't buy it! A friend of mine has a deal at Elgin/ riverboat, said that about 80 to 90 percent are chronically addicted gamblers. Do you want that element in your Fox Lake area? Most of these people spend all their time and money ruining their families, do you really want this in the Fox Lake area? The ultimate question is do we really want to send this type of message to our children? Let's get this on the referendum. Let people decide what's right for this area.

Forgotten value

This is in response to "Saving you money." It would sure save us if the people would be honest. But that value is forgotten among them starting with Rick Leber, project manager. The water and sewer treatment plants say that they did not have accurate service maps. They are not out to get your money, but to make money. Yes, the village thought they could save money by hiring/ contacting Rick Leber's company, whose contract is up February. That's why they are working so hard lately. But "to serve" is a forgotten value beginning with the mayor himself.

Issue tickets

I live in Antioch and the village loses needed revenue by not enforcing the vehicle stickers regulation. Anyone who lives in the village should display and pay their fees like the rest of us. Some are trying to "beat the system," by keeping nearby state plates to avoid paying sticker fees. The village should send notices, and if not returned, ticket each one.

Let's cooperate

In answer to "Back new slate,"

Fox Lake city government does need new people. Mayor Hamsher is not running, Jim Segin resigned, now let's get rid of John Erdman, a 12 year trustee, and planning board member Greg Murrey, a 15 year former planning board member, and Jim Pappas, a trouble making present trustee. Let's get all new people in office who can cooperate and can work together and get things done rather than fight with each other and try to put each other in jail.

Don't come back.

Mayor Hamsher, I hope that you didn't spend any money provided by the village when you went down to Springfield for the stupid gambling vote. You estimated 1,400 jobs for Fox Lake. Did you think of all the places you'll close in Fox Lake? A gambling boat gives away free food and liquor like Las Vegas, to draw people to come in. That only takes away from current business owners. Get real! You're only feathering your own nest. Why not move away and forget how to get back to Fox Lake? Use the services of your own funeral home, which apparently is the only one allowed in Fox Lake.

What a joke

The reason the village doesn't have any qualified people is that I guess along with the mayor's job, you get privileges with everyone's wives. My goodness, we haven't seen anything about you and the clerk lately. What's happened, are you toting it down, or are scared, or are you on to the next tryst? That's why no one qualifies for your jobs. Sure wouldn't want my wife to work there. It's a joke, why not just quit.

Message for neighbor

I'm in Antioch and this is to my drug dealing neighbors. One week after this is printed I will report your activity to the police if I don't see that you have stopped. Do you realize the punishment is harsher, living so close to schools? Are you prepared to lose your children and meager possessions? To your customers; I have your license numbers and make and models of your cars. You might want to find a new source.

What happened?

I would like to know what happened to all the snow plows in Wauconda. There aren't enough plows on main roads. Other villages had theirs out, why didn't you get enough help to get the main roads done? They did an awful job. The roads were terrible, the weather was forecasted well in advance, what is the problem?

No more housing

I would like Mundelein Mayor Marilyn Shindles out of the office. I'm tired of all the building. It's causing too much traffic. She only wants to build. She wants to build a new McDonald's, which we don't need. We need less buildings, so stop the building. We need more family oriented things here, like restaurants, not more housing.

Stop CB user

I'm calling about the constant telephone disturbance in Round Lake Heights, especially calls from the CB freak. You can't even hold a telephone conversation without continual interruption, or hear other callers. He even uses vulgar language. What if our children pick up the phone and hear this? Also, has he ever thought that if there is an emergency, you can't even get through to talk to the 911 operator? Something needs to be done! There are a lot of residents in Round Lake Heights that are upset about this. I hope he gets the message.

Two books—one's a winner, the other a doorstop

As an author, I'm often amazed at the books in the business arena that make it to the top of the best-sellers lists. Or, more frequently I'm surprised at the valuable books that don't make it.

I don't believe a book's success is all in the marketing, the subject or the author's fame. I'm also certain that book publishers don't have the formula entirely figured out either. I do know that some of the best helps for operating a successful business never make the "New York Times" best-seller list.

Such is the case with two books I read recently. One's a dud, but made all the best-seller lists. The other is a winner waiting for discovery.

First, the winner

"Streetfighter Marketing" by Jeff Slutsky is a winner. If you're in a retail or service business that depends on local customers, read this book!

Slutsky's focus is on how to outmarket your competitors without outspending them. You'll find the marketing approach in this book unique and fresh.

"Streetfighter Marketing" begins by introducing you to the "Ten Rules of Streetfighting Success." The rest of the book is filled with details that will help you put together an effective neighborhood marketing program.

What I found especially beneficial about "Streetfighter Marketing" is the common sense approach to winning customers. The concept is one of community networking and local trade-area involvement. "Streetfighter Marketing" gives you several tools to use, many solid examples and dozens of actual success stories.

Slutsky is quick to point out that quality products and services are essential prerequisites to marketing success. "Without a first-rate service or product to offer the customer, creative neighborhood marketing will bring in more customers to see just how bad your product or service is, thereby driving you out of business all the faster," Slutsky said. In other words, good marketing and bad business practice could actually accelerate your failure.

What you won't find in this book are any "all-you-gotta-do-is," "pie-in-the-sky" marketing approaches. Slutsky is a down-to-earth business owner who has personally helped hundreds of clients achieve marketing success. He is a streetfighter who is building his own business one customer at a time.

Recently, I had the pleasure of meeting and visiting with Slutsky and I was impressed with his marketing philosophy. I think you'll find his book an easy read and a good tool to use in building your business.

WKRS-AM hires news specialist

WKRS has hired radio veteran Robert Owen as the station's new operations manager. A long time radio programmer, Owen specializes in News/Talks AM stations. According to Owen, "WKRS is one of a few AM stations around the country that has a long heritage of providing all of the information needs in a local community and, that is what it will continue to do." Prior to joining WKRS, Owen spent time at WGST-AM and WCNN-AM in Atlanta, as well as television duties at Superstation WTBS.

According to Mike Topoll, general manager of WKRS/WXLC, Robert Owen's appointment to the staff will continue to improve on the quality of Lake County news coverage that no one else can offer. WKRS believes that the most important news is that which affects Lake County personally. WKRS-AM's Lake County coverage has always been excellent. Owen's involvement will allow WKRS to take it to the next level.

Bill Sherard, president of Spring Broadcasting adds, "Lake County is a specific unique part of the market. Most of the residents work and play in this great area. Our goal is to provide even better Lake County news and information to these residents."

Ameritech has plan to save environment

Throwing away used cellular batteries can now be a thing of the past, thanks to Ameritech.

Ameritech Cellular and Paging announced a major new recycling effort to protect the environment for future generations by keeping used nickel-cadmium batteries out of Illinois landfills.

Cellular users now can drop off used cellular batteries for recycling at any one of Ameritech Cellular's new "Battery Drop Stops," located in all Ameritech Cellular and Paging Centers and authorized dealers across Illinois.

Ameritech Cellular and Paging is teaming up with the Rechargeable Battery Recycling Corp. (RBRC), a national, nonprofit consortium of battery manufacturers and the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), to launch the "Battery Drop Stop" program.

The RBRC, which is ensuring that the program meets all federal and state environmental regulations, is providing special battery collection boxes and coordinating the recycling.

In conjunction with the program Ameritech has a free educational brochure, (available at any Ameritech Cellular Center or authorized dealer), which provides such tips as how to test a battery, when to know a battery is dead and when that battery is ready for recycling.

"The 'Battery Drop Stop' program is an opportunity for Ameritech customers, as well as all cellular users, to do something to help preserve the environment where they live, shop and work," said Jay Ellison, regional vice presi-

Battery recycling tips

- A nickel-cadmium battery can be recharged about 500 to 700 times, on average one to two years, before it needs to be replaced.
- A nickel-cadmium, cellular telephone battery is a single "cell" with three components: a positive electrode, a negative electrode and the electrolyte, a substance surrounding the electrodes. These components chemically react with each other, forming an electrical current, until they appear to be consumed. Recharging the battery reverses the chemical reaction and changes the materials back to nearly their original state.
- It is time to "recharge" your battery when your call clarity starts to diminish or you can no longer complete a call.
- It is time to "recycle" your battery and purchase a new one when recharging it fails to restore clear, uninterrupted service.
- Although there are times when cellular users think their phones are not working correctly, it's often the battery and not the phone.
- Nickel-cadmium (NiCad) batteries differ from nickel metal hydride (NiMH) in that a ni-cad battery is prone to memory effect. This is a gradual reduction in capacity caused by repeated charging before the battery has been discharged completely. An NiMH battery offers a slightly longer talk time yet does not perform as well in extreme temperatures and discharges significantly more quickly than NiCad.

dent and market manager, Ameritech Cellular and Paging Services. "This program will enable us to continue to meet the increasing demand for cellular communications with the knowledge that we are helping to protect the environment by keeping these batteries out of the landfills.

Ameritech Cellular and Paging retail associates and authorized dealers will accept used batteries from consumers (at no cost to them) in the stores and ship them to a special recycling facility in Pennsylvania, which uses a High Temperature Metal Recovery Process (HTMR) to recycle the nickel-cadmium batteries. This process utilizes the "best demonstrated available technology," according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), yielding recycled nickel to make stainless steel and recycled cadmium to make new cellular batteries.

Baxter Intentional scores at first annual 'Souper' Bowl

Super Bowl Sunday brought homes full of friends, good food, and great times.

Unfortunately, not everyone had the ability to be in their own home or even to have a meal that day.

The Packers are the Super Bowl champions, but the real winners are the people who benefited from Baxter's First Annual "Souper" Bowl on the Friday before the game.

Volunteers from Baxter collected cash donations in soup kettles from employees to help restock the shelves of the Community Help Program's food pantry. Close to $1,000 was collected from Baxter's Deerfield, Lake Cook IV, Round Lake, Technical, William Graham, Renal, and Lake Cook II Credit Union offices.

The Community Help Program, a member of the Lake County Resource Council, is a sponsor of a food pantry in Round Lake Beach.

Every Thanksgiving,

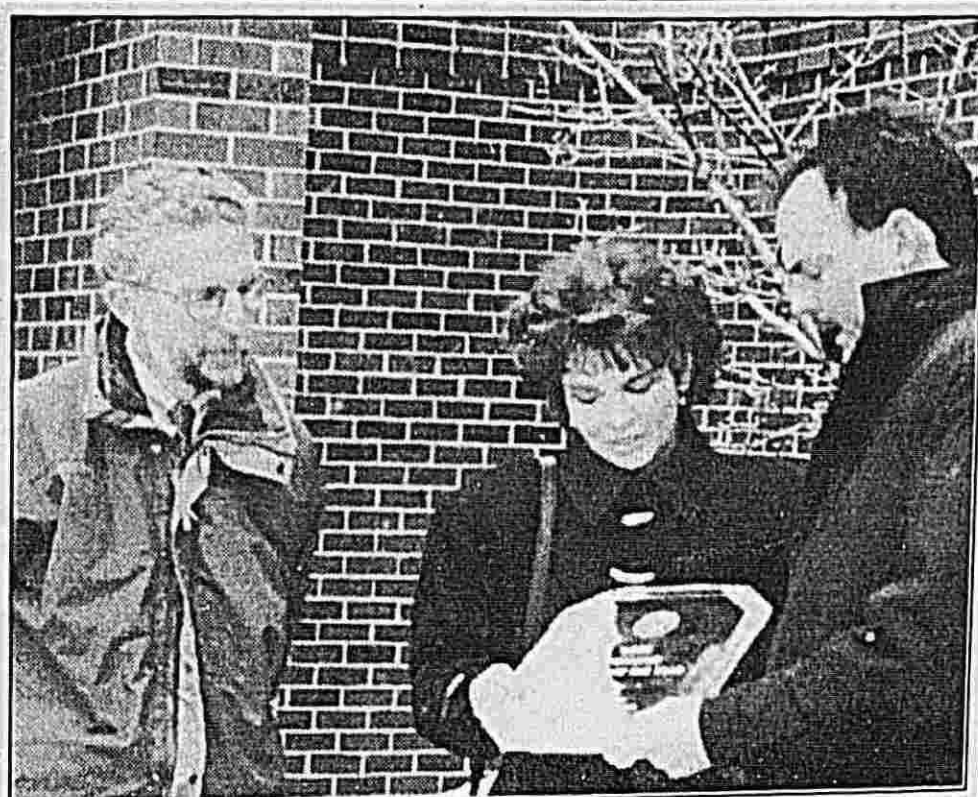

Christmas, and Easter volunteers from the Community Help Program hand out food baskets to those in need. Open every other Tuesday, the Community Help Program also fills emergency food orders in addition to providing donated furniture and clothing.

is a negative, cynical, supposedly humorous look at management in corporate America.

This multi-week, best-seller doesn't cut it as a management guide.

The back flap promises to reveal the "secrets of management" in 26 provocative, illustrate chapters. It never happens.

The basic premise of the "Dilbert Principle" is that all managers are idiots. Adams proposes that the most ineffective workers are systematically moved to the place where they can do the least damage—Management!

Here are some "management gems" from the book.

- To the manager, the following equation holds true: Employee input = more work = bad.

- Female success factors: 1.

Who you know. 2. Swearing. 3. Education and 4. What you do.

- ...the marketing professionals motto: We're not screwing the customers. All we're doing is holding them down while the salespeople screw them."

There are worse examples of Adams' negative, slanted philosophy in the book. You'll also find nearly 400 anti-management cartoons in the book.

My advice: Don't buy the book, don't read the book and forget the cartoons. The "Dilbert Principle" won't help you become successful in business and it won't give you any real management secrets.

Ameritech

Ameritech Cellular and Paging is serving as an excellent example for the rest of corporate America," said Norman R. Niedergang, division director for the Region 5 U.S. EPA. "The heavy metals in these batteries can cause them to be classified as hazardous waste.

So, if the batteries get thrown away, they can wind up adding to the toxicity levels of landfills and municipal incinerators, which could further pollute the groundwater and the air that we breathe."

Illinois residents are not the only ones who will benefit from this program. Ameritech "Battery Drop Stops" opened up in every Ameritech Cellular and Paging Center and authorized dealer—more than 1,000 locations across Ameritech's Midwest region.

Implementing such a large-scale cellular battery recycling program became feasible.

In May 1996, President Clinton signed into law the "Mercury-containing and Rechargeable Battery Management Act," which relaxed certain hazardous-waste regulations nationwide to encourage such recycling programs.

Prior to passage of the bill, a battery recycling program spanning across several states would have had to comply with varying state environmental regulations.

Interested consumers can find the location of the nearest Ameritech "Battery Drop Stop" by calling 1 (800) MOBILE-1 (1-(800) 662-4531).

There are over 300 Ameritech Cellular Centers and authorized dealers conveniently located throughout the state of Illinois.

To celebrate the program's kickoff, Ameritech and the Antenna Company, a manufacturer of Ameritech branded cellular batteries, is hosting a sweepstakes for a free Caribbean Cruise.

For information about the sweepstakes, contact or stop into the nearest Ameritech Cellular Center or authorized dealer.

First National Bank-Employee Owned creates Internet site

First National Bank-Employee Owned located in Antioch and Gurnee has gone on-line, becoming the first bank in Antioch and Gurnee to have its very own web site on the Internet: www.fnbeo.com.

First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBE) has worked to develop a web page that includes basic bank information and other interesting features.

"There really is something for everyone on our web site. Whether you want current rates, local weather, or want to play games, you can access it all from one site," said Mary Owens, vice president and "Webmaster" at FNBE.

FNBE's web site offers a wide range of information on products, services, locations and current rates.

Also included in the web site is an on-line calculator that will allow people to calculate their own loan payments, and a "feedback page" that is sent directly to the bank via the internet. Besides "Banking" information FNBE has added some human interest pages.

"Fun Stuff" is a page that consists of everything from homework tips, to trivia facts, to games for all ages. "Daily Life" is a page that covers a multitude of information that includes the current whether forecast, news and stock market quotes.

One feature that FNBE is most proud of is a "Community Links" option located on its community page. "Community Links" will allow customers of the bank to list their business name and URL (web address) on the page so others may reach that address by simply clicking on the link. FNBE's first "Community Link" is to Ben Franklin Home Accents located next to the FNBE in Antioch.

"This (Community Links) is a good benefit because it allows people to get more information on the total community" said Don Marski, owner of Ben Franklin Home Accents.

First National Bank-Employee Owned intends to keep its web site dynamic, changing content frequently to keep browsers coming back.

First National Bank-Employee Owned is located at 485 Lake St. in Antioch and 36044 N. Brookside Dr. in Gurnee.

For more information on FNBE's web site call Karen Kurbin at 838-2265 or visit the web site on-line at www.fnbeo.com.

Changing the corporate mind-set

RAYMOND F. McCASKEY

When asked about the reasons for the success of a company, chief executive officers usually talk about superior products, services or marketing expertise. I prefer to cite some five thousand reasons. Each of those reasons is a unique individual—an employee.

Certainly Blue Cross is not alone in valuing its employees, but we also value the diversity among our employees. As part of a complex and diverse community, we see our diverse work force as a competitive advantage. We constantly strive to energize diversity in ways that make positive contributions to our business objectives. I'm happy to say that Blue Cross is not alone in this effort.

In America, there was once a nearly universal corporate mind-set that said work force diversity was something that did not necessarily contribute to achieving a company's goals. A uniform, monolithic work force was considered more efficient and, therefore, better for business. That kind of thinking is changing. An increasing number of companies have learned how a diverse work force can be a corporate asset and can help accomplish the company's objectives.

There are myriad ways a diverse work force can benefit a company's bottom line. For example, a hotel might find that the many languages spoken by its employees can help attract international travelers.

A company's diverse work-force might offer new insights into how to better present a product to what are called niche markets. Employees from diverse backgrounds could offer productive differences in perspectives to corporate decisions on issues ranging from product development to packaging. A diverse work force can create a level of sensitivity and awareness within a company that can assist the company in external relationships.

With the rapid growth of international trade and the development of a more diverse marketplace, American companies face tremendous challenges to promote, maintain and manage diverse work forces.

What American business is beginning to learn is that these challenges are easier to meet when supported by solid business reasons. While as individuals we believe that promoting diversity is the right thing to do, corporations respond to bottom-line motivation. More companies are discovering that the return on the investment in a diverse work force is substantial.

PUBLIC NOTICE NOTICE TO BIDDERS

1. Time and Place of Opening Bids. Sealed proposals for the construction of the 1997 C.D.B.G. Water Main Replacement on Fern, Hickory, Circle and Ethel for the Village of Island Lake, Lake and McHenry Counties, Illinois, will be received at the Village Hall until 10:00 a.m., March 5, 1997, and at that time will be publicly opened and read aloud.

2. Description of Work. The proposed construction consists of the construction of approximately 4,415 lineal feet of 8-inch ductile iron, 75 lineal feet of 6-inch ductile iron, and 85 lineal feet of 2-inch PVC plastic water main; 18 main line valves and vaults; 15 fire hydrants; 8 inter connections to existing water mains; complete surface restoration; and other miscellaneous items of work.

3. Information for Bidders. This project is being federally funded, in part, through the HUD program for Community Development Block Grants, therefore all federal labor standards provisions and equal employment opportunity provisions will be enforced. The successful contractor will be required to comply, to the greatest extent feasible, with all regulations pertaining to opportunities for training and employment to lower income residents of the project area and to the provision that contracts for work in connection with the project be awarded to business concerns located in, or owned in substantial part by persons residing in the area of the project. HUD will not be a part to this invitation to Bid or any resulting contract.

All pertinent documents may be examined at the Village Hall or at the office of Baxter and Woodman, Inc., Consulting Engineers, 8678 Ridgfield Road, Crystal Lake, Illinois 60012.

Copies of the Bidding Documents may be obtained from the Engineers, Baxter and Woodman, Inc., upon a non-refundable payment of $25.00 per set.

Not less than the prevailing rate of wages as found by the Village of Island Lake or the Department of Labor or determined by the court on review shall be paid to all laborers, workmen and mechanics performing work under this contract.

Preference shall be given to the employment of Illinois laborers for all work under this contract in compliance with State Law (Illinois Compiled Statutes Chapter 30-570, Employment of Illinois Workers on Public Works Acts).

The Village of Island Lake is exempt from the Illinois State, municipal or county Retailers Occupation Tax, Service Occupation Tax, Use Tax, and Service Use Tax as described in Illinois Compiled Statute Chapter 35. Bid prices shall not include the cost of such taxes.

All Bids must be accompanied by a Bidder's bond, certified check, bank cashier's check or bank draft payable to the Village of Island Lake for ten percent (10%) of the total amount of the Bid as provided in the Instructions to Bidders.

4. Rejection of Bids. The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any and all Bids and to waive technicalities. Unless the Bids are rejected for good cause, award of contract shall be made to the lowest responsible and responsive bidder.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,

I am actively seeking employment after many years. I have been self-employed in the home and therefore out of touch with the interview process as I once knew it. Friends have told me to be prepared to answer questions asked of me during the interview. I was hoping you could offer some insight as to what types of questions are often asked and a tip or two. Thank you in advance.
R.B.-Lake Forest

Dear R.B.,

Today's job market is very competitive and therefore requires more than just showing up for an interview. Prepare yourself in any way that you can. Here is a list of some of the most common asked questions we have found. Keep in mind that they are not in any particular order and not guaranteed to be asked since no two interviews are the same. 1. What are your strengths? 2. What are your weaknesses? 3. Why are you interested in working for this company? 4. Do you have references? 5. What did you like best about your last job? 6. What did you like least about your last position? 7. Why did you leave your last employer? I have always found it best before answering any question during the interview, stop briefly, pull your thoughts together, take a deep breath and be sure what comes out is what you want the interviewer to hear. After the interview it is always wise to make some notes about what took place. The reason for this is that quite often it may be days or weeks before you are contacted by the company. If you've been avidly interviewing you may forget details or be confused as to which details belong to which interview. This includes the name of the person who interviewed you. You will want to remember the name of course because you don't want to forget that follow-up letter or card that you should send out to each prospective employer. The soul purpose of this letter or card is to thank them for taking the time to meet with you and at the same time, allowing you the opportunity to express your further interest in their company. I hope these tips help. Good luck.

Dear Search,

While on an interview recently I asked the person interviewing me for his business card. A friend told me that I was wrong for asking for it. I don't see any harm in it do you?

E.H.-Libertyville

Dear E.H.,

Ask away! It is the professional thing to do. If someone doesn't want you to have their card...they'll just say no!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.

Letters can be sent to Nancy Sakol c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030

PET OF THE WEEK

SCRUFFY

"SCRUFFY" is an Australian Shepherd/Terrier mix female. Just 18 months old, she has an unusual mottled coat of black spots on a silver gray field. A smaller mid-size, Scruffy is a very smart girl and she has had some training. She will sit on command and is eager to please. This is a super sweet dog possessing an alert and responsive personality. Scruffy loves people and craves attention and affection. Scruffy is a gentle dog and she is obviously uncomfortable with the constant loud barking and general commotion of the shelter. This dog needs a safe, nurturing, home environment, where she can feel loved and cared for, and where her sweet, smart and playful nature can shine and thrive. Free from the anxiety she experiences at the shelter, she will mature into a beautiful, confident, happy dog who will return your love with her special brand of tail-wagging affection and trust. Scruffy is in Cage 37.

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING & OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11am-5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

FOUR PAWS TRAINING CENTER

"Positive Training With Positive Results"

All training methods are not alike. Come visit us during classes and observe a different approach to dog training. Our methods utilize food, enthusiasm and praise, and exercises are broken down into pieces both dogs and owners can manage. We have classes for puppies and older dogs, and for all levels of obedience competition training. For more information please give us a call.

Q. I have a very small male chihuahua (2 years old), who is active and in excellent health. Because he is also paper trained, how do I get him to fully relieve himself on paper, when I cannot take him outside in this extreme cold? Will this affect his bladder? Will he revert back to using paper totally?

A. Even in very cold weather pets need to go outside to urinate and defecate so they can get some fresh air and exercise. I like a cable or rope attached to a stake in the ground or patio column so the dog can come to the door when they have finished and want to come in. Dogs seldom self-exercise inside the home. The less pets exercise, the more likely it is that bowel and digestive problems can occur. There are sweaters that can be purchased to help keep your pet warm outside. If you teach your pet to urinate and defecate indoors, even on paper in the winter months, your pet may have difficulty reverting back to going outside in the warmer weather. If animals hold their urine too long it is quite possible that bladder infections can occur.

Q. I am considering purchasing a pot bellied pig. Do they make good house pets? Are they good with children? What do you advise on such a pet?

A. Although we do see many clients who own pot bellied pigs as pets, we do not suggest that they are good for every household. Just like with any new family pet, the animal you are considering should be researched fully before purchase. The thing that most people don't realize when purchasing this particular animal is that, although they are tiny and cute when they are purchased, they do not stay small. We have seen them come into the clinic at 80-100# and more. By nature these are rooting animals so it takes a lot of patience and training to keep them from destroying floors, fences and yards. I have seen the tile floors, baseboards, and carpeting in nice homes destroyed as well as their yards! Nose rings will often help break the rooting habit after your DVM installs them. Pot Bellied pigs are intelligent and trainable with proper handling. As far as children go, we do have clients that have had good experiences with them and their children. Remember though, this is not a domesticated dog or cat so you cannot expect the same mannerisms.

'After a while I would forget I was white and different, especially towards the end.'

Dave McIntosh

Breaking barriers

White college student gets broader perspective at historically black university

What would it be like to be the only white student in your entire college?

Ripon College senior Dave McIntosh, a Grayslake resident, knows. He spent the 1996 fall semester as the first student to participate in the Ripon/Fisk University Exchange.

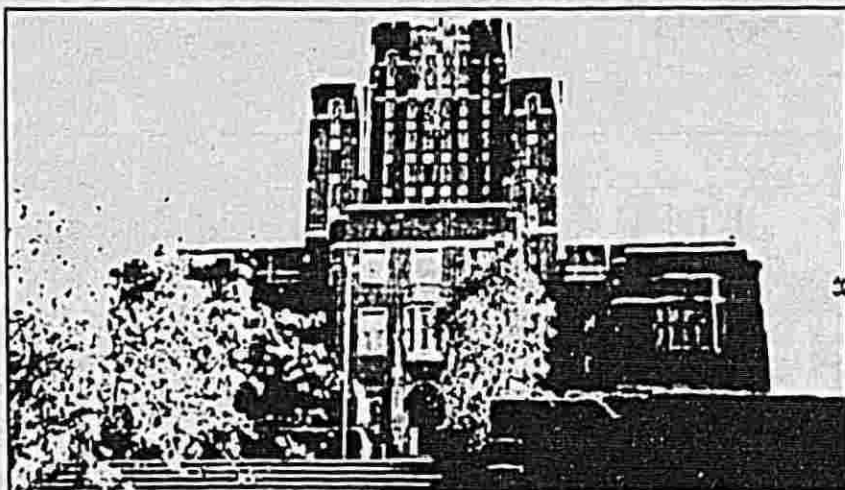

"I learned a lot by being the only white person. It was interesting to be put in the perspective where you're a minority. A lot of barriers get broken," he said.

He spent a day telling the students at his alma mater, St. Gilbert's Catholic School in Grayslake, of his learning experiences at Fisk, an HBCU- which stands for a historically black college or university, located in Nashville, Tenn. It is one of more than 100 HBCUs in the country.

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

McIntosh visited with the students to highlight the start of black history month in February. He explained the exchange program started as an outgrowth of conferences held between the two schools to discuss race relations. During one conference last year he hosted a Fisk student visiting Ripon for a few days.

It all started when the presidents of both schools met at a conference and decided their institutions had much in common. They are both liberal arts schools and in terms of size they both have student bodies numbering around 800. However, Fisk is all black and Ripon has a very small number of minorities in its student body.

Perhaps the most striking difference between the schools is their surroundings. Fisk is located in a neighborhood surrounded by housing projects; it has a cyclone fence with barbed wire on top to keep people off campus. Ripon is located in a small, quiet Wisconsin college town where worries of crime are uncommon.

"Fisk is mostly residential . . . it's a great place to be, when they realize you're a Fisk student, they're very warm. They call it a 'Fisk Family,'" McIntosh said of his experiences.

McIntosh paraphrased a quote of the author W.E.B. DuBois who said "the biggest problem in the 20th Century would be the problem between the color line," and he said it is funny because the African American leaders today are still saying the same thing. He espoused DuBois' belief offering several incidents from the O.J. Simpson trial to the Texaco scandal to the St. Petersburg incident in which a black man was shot by a police officer, as evidence of a problem.

McIntosh said he was glad for his semester at Fisk. He is very involved in student life and residence life activities at Ripon, so he said it was sort of expected he would go to Fisk and there also was a little pressure from administrators. A female from Fisk was also supposed to attend Ripon, but she backed out.

McIntosh said his bad experiences were very small in number and mostly consisted of people from outside the school yelling at him as they drove by saying things like "You need a color blind."

One of the stereotypes he went there with was the fear that something would happen to him because he was white.

When he arrived on campus his assigned roommate backed out, but his new roommate, Robert Lee Harris Jr., stepped up to volunteer and they quickly found they had a great deal in common. Harris was a former resident of Vernon Hills and told McIntosh he volunteered because he had mostly white friends at home. He also helped smooth the way for McIntosh at the school.

"At first it was a little scary. I first realized how many biases and stereotypes people have. I realized my own personal biases," explained McIntosh.

After getting over his initial trepidation, he realized they wouldn't stereotype him as being representative of all white people.

"After a while I would forget I was white and different, especially towards the end," he explained.

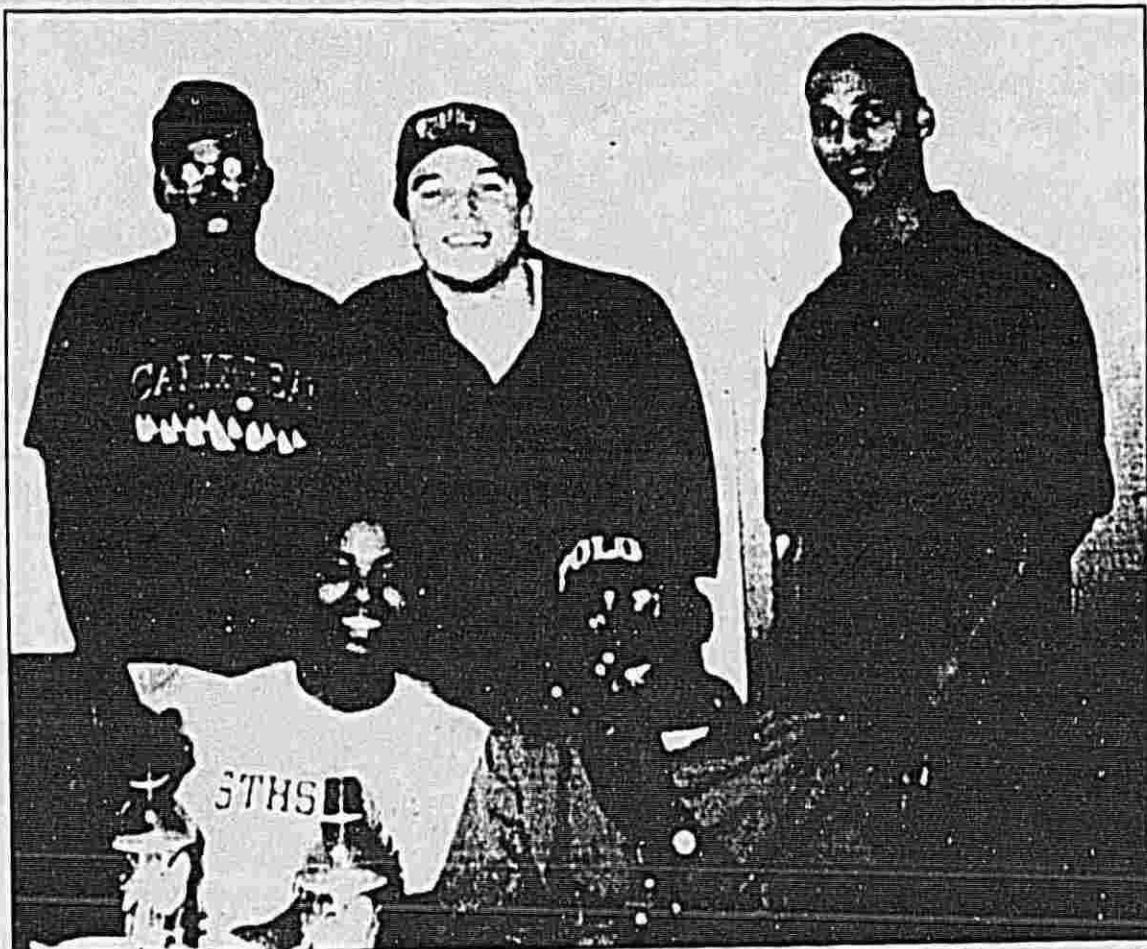

On campus McIntosh was somewhat of a novelty. Everywhere he went people knew his name and said hello because he was the only white student, but he had a much harder time remembering the names of around 800 students.

When he returned to Ripon the black students there were very interested in his experience.

"I feel connected with them now. I know what they mean when they feel oppression especially in a small town like Ripon," said McIntosh.

"I have a better understanding of African American people. I don't think I've suffered oppression, but for me to play the role of minority was different. I learned a lot because I've never felt oppressed," he explained.

Families can participate in national 'TV Tune Out Week'

Kohl Children's Museum joins the Winnetka Alliance for Early Childhood to kick-off a week long event with a picnic dinner and Valentine's Day crafts on Sunday, Feb. 9 from 6 to 8 p.m.

It's Tune Out TV week. A week dedicated to family activities not centered around the set.

Families will have full access to the museum's many hands-on, interactive exhibits in addition to the planned craft program. Families are encouraged to bring a picnic dinner. Admission is $8 for Kohl Children's Museum members and $10 for non-members.

National TV Tune Out Week

allows families to "connect" without a TV plugged into an outlet but instead on a more personal level by encouraging them to talk more and watch TV less. Last year, approximately 3,500 children and their parents participated in TV Tune Out. This year, organizers expect the number of families to increase to over 4,000. Information including a schedule of events and ideas for families form the American Medical Assn.'s recently released pamphlet "Guide for Parents on Children and Television" will be available.

The Kohl Children's Museum is located at 165 Green Bay Rd., Wilmette. Hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday, noon to 5 p.m. Closed Monday. For information, call 1-888-KOHLKID.

Explore!

The College of Lake County's "Explore!" program for junior high school students will begin Feb. 15 with a variety of classes offered between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at CLC's Grayslake campus, 19351 W. Washington St. A supervised lunch period will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

The following classes will be offered on Feb. 15:

• 9:30 to 4:30 p.m. "Babysitting Certification I and II." This is the first session of a two-day course approved by the American Red Cross. The concluding session will be held Feb. 22. Students must complete both sessions to earn the certification. Students must be at least 11 years old to take the course.

• 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. "Test-Taking Strategies," "Stenciled Tiles" and "Ceramics."

• 12:15 to 2:15 p.m. "Fencing I," "Sign Language I," "Paper Artistry: Embossed Note Cards," "Paper Making," "Ceramics" and "Decorating Clay Pots."

• 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. "Surf the Net: Improvisational Theater," "Drawing and Painting" and "Silk Painting."

• 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. "Fencing II," "Improvisational Theater," "Drawing and Painting" and "Silk Painting."

The cost per course ranges between $10 and $30. The "Explore!" program will continue on March 15, April 19 and May 10. For course information and registration, call 223-3616.

Cooking classes

Lake Forester Linda Z. Hegg will teach cooking classes especially for kids ages 8 to 13 at Gorton Community Center, 400 E. Illinois Rd., Lake Forest. Safety, cleanliness, and nutrition will be emphasized.

"Healthy Snack Attacks!" will be held on Thursday, Feb. 20 from 4 to 5:30 p.m. with a fee of $12. Students will learn to prepare fresh vegetables and Hummus, vegetarian pizza and granola. To register call 234-6060.

Fabulous February

February truly is fabulous. From Valentine's Day to President's Day, there's always something to look forward to. Here's just a sampling:

February 7:

Chinese New Year
A great time of cheer in China, the New Year is celebrated with the second new moon after the winter solstice. This can occur anywhere between January 21 and February 19.

February 11:

Thomas Edison's Birthday
Where would we be without the inventions of Thomas Edison? Maybe in the dark! His many inventions include the first incandescent electric lamp, the phonograph and the movie projector.

February 12:

Abraham Lincoln's Birthday Regarded by many as the greatest American president, Lincoln fought to put an end to slavery.

February 14:

Valentine's Day
A day for people in love with love — and chocolate — this is a day many look forward to.

February 15:

Susan B. Anthony's Birthday
Susan B. Anthony fought for more than half a century to secure women's rights in voting, education and employment.

February 17:

President's Day
This is the day we celebrate the work of the men who led and shaped the United States for the past two centuries.

February 22:

George Washington's Birthday
As the first president, Washington governed during the critical early years of the new nation.

PM&L presents "The Lion in Winter." Front row, Matt Conkrite of Fox Lake as Richard Lionheart; Mark Kettner of Paddock Lake, Wis., as Henry II; Ryan Finley of Round Lake as John. Back row: Guy Finley of Gurnee as Geoffrey, the middle son; Yvonne Alton of McHenry as Eleanor, Henry's wife; Beth Shehorn of Waukegan as Alais, a French Princess; and Jerod Howard of Lake Villa as Philip, King of France.

'Lion in Winter'
"The Lion in Winter," a comedy classic written by James Goldman, opens Friday, Feb. 7 at 8 p.m. at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main St., Antioch. Opening night audience members are invited to enjoy a champagne party with the cast and crew after the show.
Goldman's play has all the comic ingredients for a great royal recipe—he stars with the King of England, adds the Queen and Princes, throws in a couple of French royals, then seasons them with a large dash of biting with and a pinch of treachery and backstabbing. Audience members are sure to enjoy the fun as they try to figure out who's deceiving whom. Frank DiMarco of Gurnee, directs the cast. Additional performances are Feb. 8, 14, 15, 21, and 22 at 8 p.m. and on Feb. 9, 16, and 23 at 2:30 p.m. Reservations can be made by calling 395-3055. Ticket prices are $10 for adults, $8 for students and seniors.

'Phoebe's Closet'
The Northbrook Theatre for Young Audiences is a professional children's theatre company of adults who perform for children. "Phoebe's Closet" is an educational show that revolves around a latchkey child who is hurled into an alien galaxy to navigate her way through fear and loneliness towards freedom and acceptance. "Phoebe's Closet" runs through Feb. 22 on Saturdays at the Northbrook Theatre located at 3323 Walters Ave., Northbrook. The performance times are 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Weekday performances for school field trips and groups are available on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Tickets are $5. To purchase tickets call 291-2367.

'Jack & the Beanstalk'
Papai Players presents "Jack and the Beanstalk" at the Cutting Hall, 150 Wood St., Palatine. This one hour humorous musical adventure will be performed by the Papai Players and is sure to please all who attend. Scheduled performances are Friday, Feb. 7 at 10 a.m.; Saturday, Feb. 8 at 10 a.m.; Wednesday, Feb. 12 at 10:30 a.m.; and Friday, Feb. 21 at 10 a.m.

Ticket price is $5 in advance, $6 at the door. Group rates of 20 or more are $4. For further information, call 359-9556.

'Steel Magnolias'
The Northbrook Theatre presents an endearing story about Southern women and Southern style. Trudy Jones' Beauty Shop in Chinquapin, Louisiana, where "anyone who is anyone" come to have their hair done sets the stage for Robert Harling's play, "Steel Magnolias." These witty, intelligent women are sure to take you on a journey that will make you laugh and cry. "Steel Magnolias" will be performed Feb. 7, 8, 14 and 15 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Feb. 9 at 3 p.m.

All seats are reserved and priced at $16, except for seniors, $14. The Northbrook Theatre is located at 3323 Walters Ave in Northbrook. For ticket reservations, call 291-2367.

PM&L auditions
Auditions for PM&L's production of "Jesus Christ Superstar" by Webber and Rice will be held Feb. 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St., Antioch.
The musical will be directed by Ken Smouse from Antioch, and will be given the first three weekends in April. A large cast of men and women is needed. Age range is 15 years and up. All roles are singing roles and auditionees should be prepared to sing. A pianist who can "sight read" will be accompanying, or people can bring their own selections if they desire. For further information, call Ken Smouse at 395-1333.

'Sweet Charity'
The classic musical comedy "Sweet Charity" is being produced by Music On Stage" for their mid-season musical at Cutting Hall in Palatine, now through Feb. 15. The show traces the romantic escapades of the awkward, but adorable, Charity Hope Valentine as she searches for love in New York during the late '60s. Director is Michael Bolen and choreographer Laura Thoma-Strimer. Producer for the show is Sue Beanblossom and musical director Ann Stewart. For tickets and information on dinner theater packages call Music On Stage at 991-5990.

'Phantom' auditions
Northbrook Theatre is holding auditions for the musical "Phantom"

Feb. 11 and 12 at 7 p.m. at the Leisure Center, 3323 Walters Ave., Northbrook. Directed by Jean Losquadro, with choreography by Marianne Lubershan Brown. Rehearsals begin Sunday, Feb. 16. All who audition must prepare a song with sheet music; taped accompaniment is not permitted. There will be a dance audition as well as cold readings from the script. Must be at least 16 years of age to audition. Rehearsals are Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. The performances are in mid-April through May 3. Appointments are not being taken. Arrive promptly at 7 p.m. For information, call 291-2367.

'Snoopy' auditions
Waukegan Community Players will hold auditions for "Snoopy," the musical based upon the "Peanuts" comic strip, Sunday, Feb. 9 from 2 to 5 p.m. and Monday, Feb. 10 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at Rosenwald Cottage, Bowen Park, Waukegan.

Singing/acting roles for older teens and adults. Character roles are Snoopy, Charlie Brown, Linus, Lucy, Peppermint Patty, and Sally. The role of Woodstock is a non-speaking, non-singing, pantomime role. Performance dates are April 11, 12, 13, 18 and 19. For further information, call 662-2559.

'All My Sons'
Waukegan Community Players present a revival of Arthur Miller's "All My Sons" on Feb. 14, 15, 21 and 22 at 8 p.m. and Feb. 16 at 3 p.m. at St. Therese Medical Center, 2615 Washington St., Waukegan. General admission is $9, seniors and students are $7. For ticket reservations, call 864-2518. See FYI page B4

Brad Alperin of Chicago as Rev. Shannon and Susan Block of Highland Park as Maxine in 'Night of the Iguana'

'Night of Iguana'

Tennessee Williams' "The Night of the Iguana" reveals complex personalities as they reach the end of their ropes like the iguana held captive under the veranda. Interest increases if you relate to one or more of the inhabitants of the steamy rain forest. Performances will be presented by the Bowen Park Theatre Co. on Feb. 7, 8, 13, 14, 15 at 8 p.m. and Feb. 9 at 3 p.m.

The theatre is located in Goodfellow Hall, Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Waukegan. Tickets are $18 for adults, $15 for seniors. Call 360-4741 for ticket reservations.

DANCE

'Street Scenes' sure to be hit

Area senior citizens once again had the opportunity to enjoy a sneak preview, Feb. 2, of the upcoming Carmel Street Scenes, that will be presented Feb. 7 and 8 at Carmel High School, Mundelein. Street Scenes Chaircouple Marty and Cathy Olson hosted the program by welcoming the seniors and thanking them for attending this annual function. Marty Olson then proceeded to introduce the popular and attractive vocalist, Kim Murphy who will be featured in the Tropicana Lounge at Street Scenes.

Murphy is definitely not just "another pretty face" in the entertainment field, she is not only pleasing to the eye but also the ear. In other words, this gal can really sing! As talk show host Dave Allen said, about a year ago when Kim sang on his show representing the Local Sensations entertainers, "Kim has got to be one of the best singers I have ever heard."

The vivacious and very talented students followed Murphy as they appeared in their "Curley-Girley Hurley Burley" revue, one of the Street Scenes highlights. The parents of these students have got to be, "bustin' their buttons" with pride over every one of these youngsters. The costumes were colorful, their choreography and voices excellent, and the energy never-ending. They brought fresh new life into the, "Melodies of the Mississippi." Accompanying music for the show was quite aptly provided by even more talented students. As this writer later told Cissy DePrima, the director of the student show, "I don't know how you do it but, your unique touch with these students, tends to make each years show seem to be better than the one before!" As you attend Street Scenes this weekend be sure you check your program for Kim Murphy in the Tropicana Lounge and, pick up passes for, "Melodies of the Mighty Mississippi" as you enter.—by VIRGINIA MCDONALD KRUEGER

For men only: Secrets to Valentine's Day success

Today's column is meant to provide assistance to the men of this world who were not blessed with any inborn "Romeo" qualities, or who are under the impression that there's no longer a need for romance once they've said "I do."

Of course, the difficult part in trying to help you is that you probably don't believe that you fall into this category. Most men insist they are romantic, and most women insist their man is about as romantic as Dr. Scholl's Foot Powder.

First, let me say that it's no one's fault. Men often have good intentions when it comes to romance. But due to the basic difference between male and female perception, their efforts are often met with, "YOU call THAT romantic???"

In other words, what we have here is a failure to communicate. And that's my goal today—to make sure that the message you think you're sending to your spouse or significant other is the same as the message she thinks she's receiving. All you have to do is understand these two basic Valentine's Day concepts:

Be thoughtful:

The best way to explain this is with a story: Man forgets Valentine's Day (again). Luckily, a female co-worker reminds him just as he is leaving.

"So, Bob, what did you get your wife for Valentine's Day?"

"Today?"

"Uh, oh. You better leave early and get to the store."

Bob stops at gas station. Buys wife a rose wrapped in plastic. Grabs first card on rack with a heart on it (It actually says, "Our deepest sympathy..."). Arrives home and presents his wife with the rose and card, thinking she will be thrilled that he remembered her on Valentine's Day.

Oh, she's thrilled all right. "Gee. Thanks. I can tell you spent a lot of time and thought on this gift. Quik Mart, right?"

That evening, Bob says, "So, am I going to get lucky?" and his tion in your mind between "gas station" and "Valentine gifts."

Choose an appropriate gift:

This is an area where men often get into trouble because, while men view gifts simply (Power Saw=Good tool), women tend to search for the hidden meaning behind the gift choice (Vacuum cleaner="my husband thinks I'm his maid" or "Is he saying I'm not doing a good enough job cleaning?" or "This had better not be my gift").

So, though I hate to give away our innermost secrets, perhaps it's time you knew:

All Household Appliances=He thinks our vows were "Love, honor and Oh, maid..."

All Exercise Equipment or Spa Certificates=He thinks I'm fat. Waaaah...

Gas Station Gifts=My husband is a thoughtless jerk.

Chocolate=He wants me to get fat so he has an excuse to leave me.

*Perfume, Lingerie=The poor, sweet slob can't keep his hands off me.

*Poetry, Love notes=Dear Romeo: meet me in the bedroom in five minutes.

*Evening Out/Weekend Getaway=I love you, man!

*Jewelry=Do I know how to pick men, or what?

There. We women aren't all that complicated, are we? OK, we are, but I hope I've helped you to understand what it is we're looking for when it comes to romance. Of course, you are free to ignore my advice.

But don't say I didn't warn ya: "Woe is you who don't get a clue that you still have to woo after saying 'I do'."

Editor's note: Donna Abear can also be heard as a guest humorist on WXL 102.3 FM's morning show at 7:10 a.m. on alternate Mondays.

wife says, "Sure, Bob. Lucky you gets to sleep on the couch!"

What went wrong? The problem here is that women judge a man's thoughtfulness in terms of time. In other words, the farther in advance you bought or planned her gift, the better it will be received. NOTE: This does not mean you should just go to the gas station earlier. Forget the gas station. Totally remove the connec-

Critic's Choice

Marriott's 'Will Rogers's Follies' has something for everyone

"The Will Rogers Follies," winner of six Tony Awards for its Broadway production, has a little something for everyone's musical taste in Marriott's Lincolnshire

Theatre's latest production.

This bit of homespun vaudeville, mixed with the extravagance of Florence Zeifeld, is based on some of the exploits of one of our country's best loved entertainers and country philosophers, Will Rogers.

Director Mark Hoebee leaves Marriott's stage fairly empty to make room for the many well choreographed chorus numbers, making up for the lack of scenery with gimmicks like a piano/ bicycled around the stage, black light and gorgeous costumes by Nancy Missimi, especially in the sparkling follies-like number, "Presents for Mrs. Rogers."

Jason Edwards is a fine Will Rogers, looking as cowboyish as possible, purveying down-home humor well, and carrying off his songs in a voice that fits his character.

Marriott veteran Catherine Lord steals the show as Rogers' wife, especially when she captures the audience during the "Unknown Someone" number she performs on a moving piano.

Angela Berra as the burlesque narrator, Shane Partlow's rope trickery, and the antics of Brackney's Madcap Mutt add to the entertainment's variety.

The wedding number and the low keyed finale, a reprise of "I Never Met a Man I Didn't Like," are the best numbers in the show.

Here's a musical for the entire family, chock full of songs you'll find yourself humming and Rogers' ever appropriate witticisms, as good today as they were 50 years ago when Rogers strode into the fanciful Zeifeld Follies and held an empty stage by himself as he twirled a rope and philosophized in a single spotlight.—by GLORIA DAVIS

February is sweetest time of year

Seasons of Long Grove, 314 Old McHenry Rd., in the historic village of Long Grove, has red hot plans for the month of February! Beginning with very special teas, ending with a romantic Valentine's Day dinner dance, and with lots of chocolate in between.

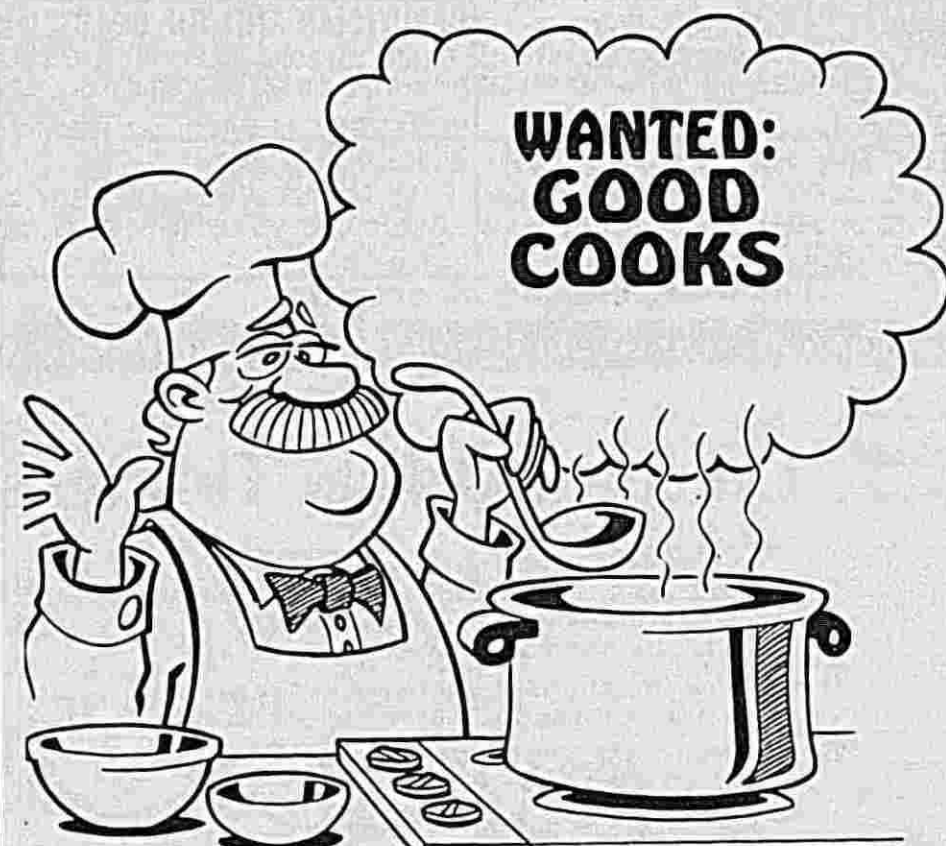

Dates for the "Mad Hatter Champagne Tea," featuring big red strawberries and brown sugar with Season's traditional tea savories, imported teas and champagne are as follows: Feb. 7, 8, 10 through 13. Tea is served from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Cost is $11.95 per person.

Romance is on the menu for a Valentine's Day dinner dance, Friday, Feb. 14 from 6 to 11 p.m. at the restaurant. Guests will receive a complimentary bottle of champagne and a gift from Long Grove confectionery, plus a chance to participate in drawings for prizes. Chef Carmen Villegas' menu offers a choice of imaginative food from lobster bisque with sherry whipped cream, salads and entrees with a finish of dessert selections, among the souffles and baked Alaska. Music for dancing is by Breezin'. Cost for the evening is $60 per person. Horse drawn carriage rides are available throughout the evening for $25 for a 15 minute ride through the village.

Children's activities at Seasons include a Valentine cookie decorating session Wednesday, Feb. 12 from 3 to 5 p.m. for children ages 8 to 12. The Third Annual Children's Chocolate Brunch takes place Sunday, Feb. 16 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Cost is $21.95 for adults, $10.95 for children 3 through 12.

For reservations are suggested to all these events and can be obtained by calling 634-9150.

Dungeons in the Bahamas?

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

It doesn't happen too often in Nassau, but you can occasionally experience a rainy day. It's then that we must look for activities that don't involve sun and sand. A visit to Fort Charlotte, a few minutes from downtown, may be just the ticket.

Built in 1789, this English fort boasts a real 18th century dungeon complete with stretching racks and other instruments of "interrogation."

A guide will meet you at the gate for your tour. The cost fit my budget perfectly, as it was free! A tip is appreciated, though.

The underground passages and dungeon were hewn by slaves out of solid rock and took two years to complete. It is everything you would expect in a dungeon. It's dark, damp and even supplied with dummies for prisoners and interrogators.

The rest of the fort is quite interesting, also. From ramparts you get an excellent view of the harbor which it was built to guard. Its cannons could fire up to two miles out to sea.

The dry moat surrounding the fort was not filled with water, but rather corn bush. A bridge one led to the powder magazine, which was kept separate in case of explosion.

There is even some 19th century graffiti on the fort's walls. One artist even signed his picture of a ship.

For the energetic, Fort Charlotte is only a 15-minute walk from downtown Nassau. Otherwise, most cab drivers will take you there and wait for you to complete your tour.

A couple of other nearby forts include Fort Fincastle on Bennet's Hill to protect the town Nassau. On the other end of the harbor is Fort Montagu, the only one to see action.

'Creatures' has highs and lows

Back in 1988 a terribly funny picture starring Jamie Lee Curtis, Kevin Kline, and John Cleese, "A Fish Called Wanda" was a big hit, eventually bringing an Academy Award to Kline.

"Fierce Creatures," a new comedy, reunites the three stars using a completely unrelated script. This one has Kline, playing the dual role of a billionaire zoo owner and his doofus son, Curtis has the part of a voluptuous American executive working for Kline Sr., and Cleese plays the man in charge of seeing that the London zoo turns a profit.

Cleese, after reading stats that show that the zoo's visitors prefer the fierce animals, decides to get rid of the rest to the opposition of the zoo's employees.

"Creatures" can't help but have several very funny sequences with such a cast, but somewhere along the line things get fuzzy and a bit messy, including claims that the less fierce animals are pets of famous people, whatever!

Maybe the flick's duality comes from having two directors, Fred Schepisi and Robert Young.

Kline again steals the show with his double role, cresting in the scenes where he asks himself for a raise and especially in the one where the son impersonates the father.

Curtis is her usual sexy self, while Cleese's textbook frantic lunacy appeal seems to be running out of gas with age.

We did laugh, but we were disappointed because we probably expected too much in lieu of "Wanda."

We give "Creatures" three out of five stars. The movie is rated PG-13.

The kids might appreciate this one, and a few less fussy Monty Python followers, because it trades a lot of "Wanda's" cleverness for some low-ball slapstick.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Do children experience depression? If so—What can a parent do to help?

Dear Dr. Singer,

I'd like to know if you think that children experience depression? If they do, what is the correct way to deal with it? My 7-year-old daughter seems really withdrawn lately and I'm concerned she might be feeling depressed. What are the signposts to look for? Any help would be appreciated! M.S.

Dear M.S.,

Certainly children are human beings like adults are and can experience the same feelings. I believe the difference mostly lies in content of what causes the depression. Let's look at general depression first. There are several types of depression that I have seen. There are clinical depressions, which are rooted in chemical issues. There are depressions that arise from a specific situation and there are longer term learned depressions that arise from feelings of hopelessness and helplessness over a period of facing a problem over time. I have seen kids with depression but most of the time, it is the second or third type I mentioned above. That isn't to say that the first type isn't possible in children.

I believe that adults and children can experience all forms of depression, and although content area is usually different between the two, it can be very similar in category.

For example, an adult might be depressed over work problems. A child might be depressed over school problems. The one difference I see is in the resilience of children with problems. The children I've met (even the ones who have gone through some hair-raising things) seem to be able to put things on a "back burner" or completely away, whereas the adults I've seen normally don't have the same abilities to keep their depression or feelings at bay. Some would argue that this is when children act out, however, I've seen many cases in which children have been able to go about life's business without a second thought to what would seemingly be a problem to most people. Certainly, there are situations in which children act out due to depression. Adults can usually label things in a better and more efficient way and therefore may erate some suggestions for how it will get resolved can do the trick as well. If a child's depression is related to something that can be fixed fairly easily, the next obvious answer is to help the child problem solve ways to deal with the problem.

Avoid rushing right in to fix it unless it's dangerous to not do so. It is important for your child to learn how to solve problems on his or her own so the child does not naturally expect others to do this for him or her. Even if you use a therapist, use one that allows that process to occur and that skill to be learned. If the problem is something serious or life threatening, you do need to get professional help, since not doing so could be dangerous or develop into larger problems.

Sign posts of depression in children are really not that different than in adults. Look for withdrawal, change in eating and sleeping habits, crying/irritability that is over and beyond normal, general sense of fatigue and lack of joining in, avoidance of familiar activities. I caution you to not take one symptom of this alone and call it depression. These symptoms can be caused by lots of things, only one of which can be depression. Usually, with depression, you're looking for a number of these symptoms together.

I also caution you to be aware of when these symptoms are occurring prior to making your judgment. For example, if the only choose to face the problem more directly, whereas, in most cases, children may not have the same level of identification and directness.

Additionally, children see things differently than adults do in many cases. They don't put the same level of importance on some things that adults do.

The first and most important thing for you to do is to assess the severity level to be sure the child is not at a severe point. The best way to do this is with a professional therapist. One meeting can assess something like that. If you feel that your child is too severe to wait for a meeting with a therapist and you're afraid for the child, you can always go to the nearest facility that would handle that (hospital emergency room or immediate care facility.) If you feel your child isn't severe enough to warrant that visit with a professional, your obvious next step is to find out what the problem is.

Many times, just sitting down with a child and asking does the trick. A lot of parents are afraid to do that because they fear suggesting problems to the child so they leave it alone hoping for improvement.

If you're afraid of that, make sure to ask and don't tell! Sometimes, just finding out the specific problem and helping gen-

Borders form a focal point

Nothing dresses up the landscape of your home better than a beautiful, lush, living border. You can incorporate your favorite shrubs, perennials, bulbs and hardy annuals in your border.

For maximum drama, your border should be quite wide—four feet or so is good. In general, match the size of your border to the time and energy of your creativity when designing your border. It's a good idea to sketch a design; it helps to visualize your border on paper.

Do not only use flowering plants, but evergreens and evergreens also. Climbers such as clematis and roses make a beautiful backdrop for your design. For a calming effect, incorporate grasses and fern-like foliage into the border. Take into consideration, the season—your border will not be in full bloom all year long. It's a good idea to plan flowers that peak at different times of the year.

As for color, do not over do the bright yellow, oranges, and reds. Although stunning, these vibrant colors can cause a restless effect. Use them sparingly. For a serene and romantic effect, use grey foliage, soft pastels and purple and pink. Experiment with a combination of two complementary colors. That provides pleasing results.

Obviously low growing plants are easily seen if planted at the front of the border. And it is normal to set the plants by height with the intermediate and tall plants set in back. But for a striking effect plant a high spiky plant in front. Experiment, mix and match hues and varieties. Keep note of which performed especially well, which were "duds," what color combos did not work well. If certain perennials did not perform, transplant them in fall.

In your borders try clematis, ceanothus, rose, artemisia, salvia, buddleia, oriental poppies, daisies, chrysanthemum, lobelia, geranium, begonia, and hosta.

Don't ignore bushy herbs such as lavender, thyme, basil and chives.

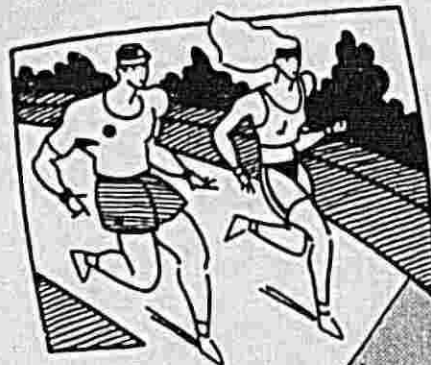

Have fun; let your imagination run wild. Think of Monet at Giverny! Peace!

Ponti's Ristorante - Italian at its best

The warm beige and brass atmosphere, suspended etched glass, and touches of European art; the delicious Italian cuisine, and the efficient and courteous service found at Ponti's Ristorante, are all the results of owner Eugene Pontillo's many years in the restaurant business.

Ponti's Ristorante, located at 235 S. Rand Rd., in Lake Zurich, is well-known for Italian dishes made from authentic recipes by experienced chefs. The Fried Calamari is one of the most popular entrees, but customers also find specialties like the Baked Clams and Mussels Marinara the best in the area.

Other house specials like tangy Chicken Caciore and hearty Meatless Lasagna are always on the menu. A wide variety of fresh seafood is also available.

All of Ponti's desserts, except for the exceptional home made Tiramisu, are imported from Italy. Pizza is served from Sunday through Thursday.

Closed on Tuesday, the winter hours for the restaurant are from 4 to 9 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday, and from 4 to 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Ponti's has two rooms, one for non-smoking and the other for smoking which features a large bar and seating for 40. Every Saturday, the restaurant features live entertainment by the Jim Edmonds Trio. For more information call (847) 540-1300.

Ideal fare for dispelling winter doldrums found in 'A Flea in Her Ear'

George Feydeau's farce, "A Flea in Her Ear," is ideal fare for dispelling winter doldrums.

As presented at Drury Lane in Oakbrook Terrace under Gary Griffin's direction, the light French comedy in three acts warms audiences with its off-the-wall devilry.

Sit back, suspend skepticism and enjoy the fun as a jealous wife lays a hapless trap to expose her husband, whom she fully believes has strayed. Paula Scrofano jumps to conclusions when she discovers a pair of her husband's suspenders have been mailed to their home from the Pretty Pussycat Inn, a hotel catering to married people—only not those married to each time you see tearfulness and fatigue is when you have just reminded your child of chores or you have asked the child to clean up toys or some other rule or requirement has come up, seriously look at whether your child is really depressed or just up for an "Oscar" for a great performance related to something he or she doesn't want to do. Look for trends. If your child is depressed all the time and it gets worse when you ask him or her to do something, you should probably still get some help.

The rule of thumb here is: if you feel that it's out of your control and you're worried about your child, call for professional help. Even if you find out that it's something minor, having it checked will help you to have peace of mind and know you're doing the right thing. If you are convinced that it isn't serious, but are concerned that your child is going through something, sit down and talk and help the child problem solve whatever the problem is. If you believe the problem is chemical, then you need to consult with an Medical Doctor.

She gets her friend to write a note inviting the unsuspecting husband to the notorious hotel for a rendezvous with an imaginary admirer. The farce takes off in full force during the second act wherein all sorts of complications arise: the wrong people show up, there's a porter who is a carbon copy of the husband and her friend's hot-tempered spouse appears waving a gun.

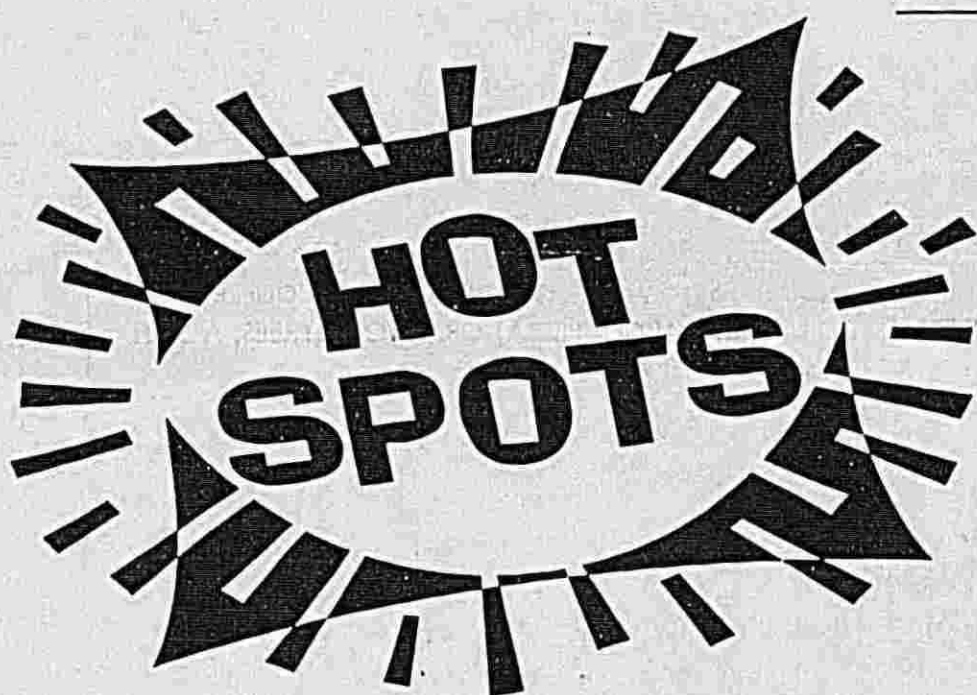

James Sudik becomes a quick-change artist in the double role as Victor the husband and as the dim-witted hotel porter. Alene Robertson and Brad Mott are a wild pair as the fretful hotel proprietors. Especially amusing is Rick Boynton, playing the cousin with a speech impediment ("I have nothing to offer but vowels," he sputters).

Just when the plot seems to be inextricably wound up, things sort themselves out.

She thought he was cheating... and he was.
He was in love with...
Steak Diane

Two tenderloin medallions find each other as they are sauteed in creamy butter with shallots, mushrooms, and a touch of garlic... They fell in love... and lay to rest together with a touch of brandy and Grey Poupon.

He was a butt man... She was a butt woman...
Together they had...
Butt Steak for Two

It brought them closer together than they had ever been. This 22 ounce prime, center cut, was softly marinated and broiled to perfection. They stared into each other's eyes as they experienced the sauteed mushrooms and onions.

It was a night they would remember forever...

The 1977 version of The Scotch Lads will be together again performing at LoveFest '97. From bottom: Larry Leafblad, vocals; Jerry Kuta, Burlington, Wis., bass; Bob Schmidt, Lake Villa, keyboards; Ray Trusky, Winthrop Harbor, drums; and John Sturino, Round Lake Park, guitar.

S.S. Antioch departs for LoveFest

Come aboard the Love Boat, Saturday night at 7 p.m., Feb. 8, the S.S. Antioch casts off for an evening of fun at the VFW Hall on North Avenue in Antioch. LoveFest '97 aboard the Love Boat is a wonderful evening of activities, food, and entertainment for those who are tired of the winter blues and look forward to enjoying the delights of cruising.

The Scotch Lads will be on board providing a great evening of dancing and entertainment. The Scotch Lads are comprised of five players from the Lake County area. They began playing together in 1977 at the Country House and several other Lake County locations, and as the story goes "they get better and better with time." The Scotch Lads will be on board playing in the Star Dust Ballroom for everyone dancing and listening pleasure.

There will be LoveFest tickets available at the gangplank Saturday evening. Tickets will be $15 per person. Love Boat tickets provide food, entertainment, a keepsake photo, fun, and optional excursions for partygoers enjoyment. Passports to fun will be provided as participants come aboard. Take advantage of as many or as few ship activities you choose—the choice is yours.

Dress for the islands or dress for dancing beneath the stars—deck shoes are not required.

Bring your favorite group of people and book a table. LoveFest will guarantee there will be no seasickness due to the swaying of the ship—the only swaying will be on the dance floor.

Plan on taking this cruise Saturday, Feb. 8 for LoveFest, an annual event sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry. LoveFest '97 is cosponsored by Lakeland Publishers. Tickets are available at the door. Doors open at 7 p.m. and close at midnight.—by BARBARA PORCH of Choosy Child, Antioch.

McIntosh

One of the important discoveries he made was the need to have a knowledge of African American history and the biases in the U.S. educational system.

"I get to tell them what I learned. Not many get this experience, so it's important for me to educate people about African American culture," McIntosh believes.

He said growing up in a town like Grayslake, he knew there wasn't much multi-culturalism. When talking to the school children he asked if they all knew the year Christopher Columbus discovered America and of course everyone raised their hands to answer, but he noted Columbus didn't really even discover this continent.

"This reflects a bias in the educational system, as if America didn't exist before. Native Americans; and Africans were here before," he pointed out.

He had a once-in-a-lifetime experience participating in the "Day of Atonement" in New York City, the sequel to the Million Man March, last October.

He journeyed there with a group of students from Fisk. They rode straight through on the bus from Nashville leaving at 6 p.m. and arriving in New York City at 10:30 a.m. for the rally.

"We went to see the 'leader' (Louis Farrakhan) but he's not the leader of all African Americans. Some don't feel he's their leader and they don't need one because whites, gays and so forth don't have a leader," McIntosh explained.

At the march he heard Farrakhan and Cornel West, a professor of African American studies at Harvard, speak.

"Louis Farrakhan was very interesting. I think a lot of stuff he says gets taken out of perspective ... at least on this day," he said.

"It was a good experience. I learned about a lot of perceptions of white people," he said.

McIntosh explained he recognized the perceptions of whites he learned of at the Day of Atonement were biased to that particular group of people and not all blacks feel the same way.

"Some didn't like whites because they thought they're out to oppress them but others felt whites are the key," he said.

The trip taught him a lot about the Nation of Islam including the belief that all races stem from two original races — the black and red people.

"It's not really an obsession, it's like Catholics worship Christ on a cross. They have the honorable Elija Mohammed as profit," he said.

The Day of Atonement also gave him a different view of the media and their portrayal of race.

"The New York Times played it down to be a piddly thing. This was a congregation of 20,000 to 200,000 black people coming together to improve America and they put it on the ninth page," he stressed.

Another thing that riled McIntosh and others at the rally was the United States acceptance of the South African order silencing Winnie Mandela, who was in attendance, from speaking at the rally. He said many were angry that this country didn't stand up for her.

On campus he became

involved. He participated in a play because they needed a white person for a part. Although he had never acted before, they talked him into performing because it was a minor part. Once he agreed and discovered the role was a slave master, he tried to back out but they assured him it was a comedy and the whole experience turned out really well.

One bad experience on campus brought out support from many fellow classmates. During a mock debate he attended, one of the debaters made a negative comment after asked what would happen if all white people died. The student replied "I would get down on my knees and thank God."

McIntosh said he became upset and many people told him they were sorry for what the person had said. The student later apologized for saying this in front of McIntosh, but wasn't sorry for his belief.

When he returned to school in January he said his friends noted he had picked up a different vocabulary at school, speaking in slang. He said it happened subconsciously, and while visiting a friend outside school and talking to a Fisk student on the phone his friend even noted he slipped right into talking slang without realizing it.

"I was a product of my environment. I didn't try to work it out of my vocabulary when I came back," he said. "My friends thought it was kind of funny they heckled me a little, but for the most part said they kind of expected it. Every once in a while a word will creep in."

The campus had a non-denominational chapel and attendance there became a regular part of McIntosh's week.

"It was my first experience in an all black church. I was drawn there every week. It was so overwhelming I was drawn into it," he said of the service.

Eventually he was asked to speak at the church.

"I had no idea how I would be accepted. I started with a joke and ended with a joke," he said and everything worked out fine.

One of the most important lessons he learned, was knowledge of his self and other people. He discovered being open minded is important but everyone has stereotypes and that is natural.

He will graduate this spring with a degree in economics and isn't sure what type of job he will pursue, but said he definitely wants to put the knowledge he gained to use by improving relations between blacks and whites in the U.S.

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

It's an ideal week to ask for a salary increase or promotion. Don't be afraid to be your own cheerleader. You know your strengths; so should others. Social activities abound later in the week. Last-minute invitations prove to be the most enjoyable offerings. Hold your sarcastic tongue.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

An organized approach in business is the best way to stay ahead. You may have to put in a few extra hours this week. You may be asked to attend a seminar of some sort. Be sure you know what you're getting yourself into before you commit to anything. A friend's odd behavior will surprise you.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

Feeling under the weather, Gemini? A few days in bed may be in order. Don't ignore symptoms — they'll only worsen. If an unexpected change occurs in well-thought-out plans, don't panic. With a cool head, you'll be able to work things out. Romantic happiness is assured this weekend.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Your busy schedule gets even more demanding this week. Even if this puts you in a bad mood, don't take stress out on loved ones. Keep priorities in order to keep on an even keel. A person you considered unreliable will surprise you and come through when you need help.

Leo — July 23/August 23

A creative project will consume much of your time this week. Try not to overlook more mundane — but equally important — responsibilities. A stubborn attitude could be the final straw in a rocky relationship. If it's valuable to you, you're going to have to keep an open mind.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

Congratulations, Virgo! In a long-term battle of the wits, you'll come out the winner. What could possibly be better for Virgo than to be proven right? Later in the week, watch what you say in mixed company. Your sarcastic tongue could prove offensive. Use the weekend to catch up on chores.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

Unrealistic expectations of a loved one is not fair to either party. Until you learn to accept people for who they are, you will always be in for disappointment. Resist the urge to spend money on unnecessary items. A bargain isn't really a bargain if it's something you don't really need. A new approach to an old problem is what you should seek in business.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

Go with your gut feelings when faced with an important decision. Everyone is willing to offer advice, but you're the only one who knows what's right for you. This weekend, your good time may be spoiled because of a friend's grumpy mood. Try to ignore it and enjoy yourself anyway.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

A spell of moodiness may hit you midweek. Combat it by using exercise as a weapon. Sweat out your aggressions on a treadmill, or exhaust your moodiness by pumping some iron. It will make a world of difference. Financial investments will be an issue later in the week.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't accuse anyone of wrong-doing until you know all the facts. Things aren't always as they seem. Social obligations will keep you busy throughout the week and weekend. Be sure to check your bank account before committing to expensive social propositions.

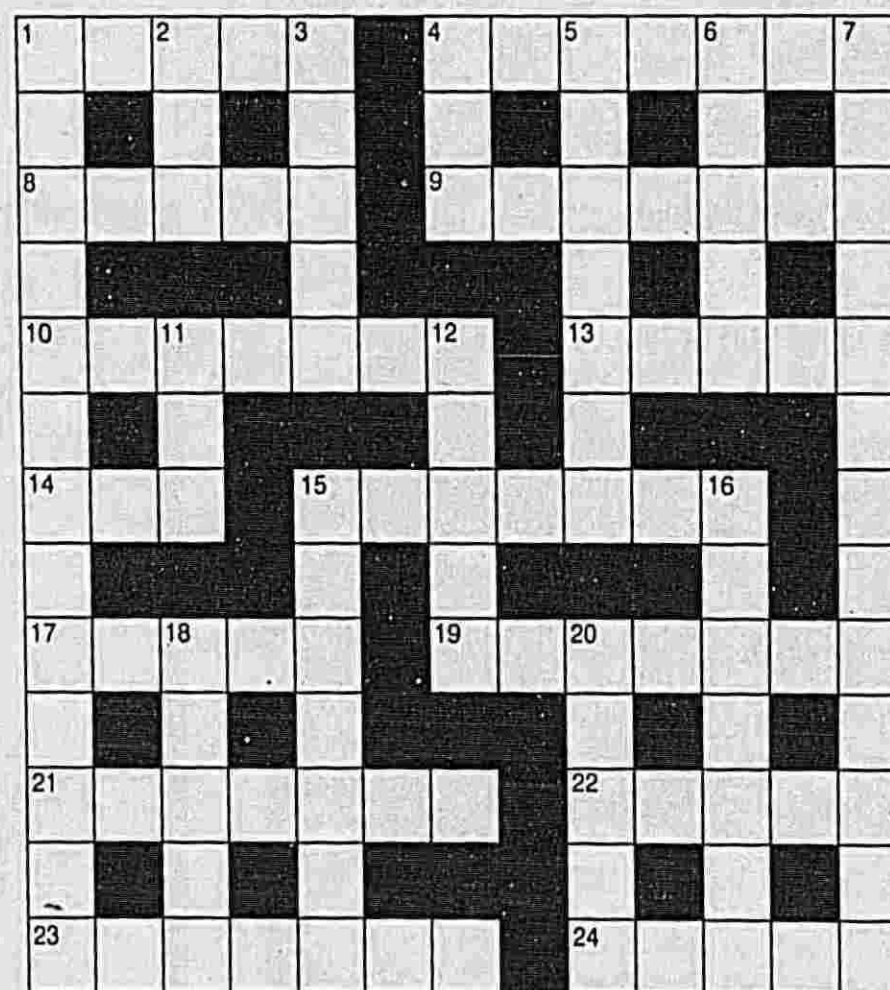

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

A last-minute offer to take a trip may come your way. Don't think you can do it? Be creative. With an organized approach, you'll be able to go away and fulfill your work obligations, too. A love relationship could be entering a new phase. Get in touch with your feelings on this matter.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

Don't rush into new agreements. Examine the fine print, and only sign contracts after careful consideration. At work, you'll have to rock the boat a little if you want things to go your way. Don't be afraid to show your assertive side. You'll find an object — or money — you lost some time ago.

HEALTHWATCH

Lakeland Newspapers

February is time to brush up on dental hygiene

DR. SONIA GUTIERREZ

Q. When should my child first see a dentist?

A. Your child should visit a pediatric dentist by 2 to 2 1/2 years of age. Early examination and preventive care will protect your child's smile now and in the future. Some children benefit from an even earlier examination if they have been on the bottle past 1 year of age.

Q. What dental problems could a baby have?

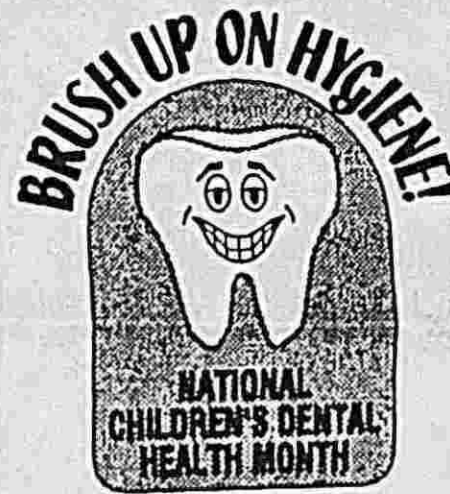

A. The most important reason for an earlier visit is a practical prevention program. A big concern is nursing or baby bottle tooth decay. Your baby risks severe decay when he or she nurses continuously from the breast or from a bottle of milk, formula or juice during naps or at night.

The earlier the dental visit, the better the chance of preventing dental problems. Children with healthy teeth chew food easily, learn to speak clearly and smile with confidence. Start your child now on a lifetime of good dental habits.

Q. How can I prevent tooth decay from nursing or a bottle?

A. Don't nurse your baby to sleep or put them to bed with a bottle of milk, formula, juice or sweetened liquid. While they sleep, any unswallowed liquid in the mouth supports bacteria that produce acids and attack the teeth. Protect your child from severe tooth decay by putting them to bed with nothing more than a pacifier or bottle of water.

FEBRUARY, 1997

Q. How do I make my child's diet safe for his teeth?

A. First, be sure he has a balanced diet. Then, check how frequently he eats foods with sugar or starch in them. Food with starch include breads, crackers, pasta and such snacks as pretzels and potato chips.

When checking for sugar, look beyond the sugar bowl and candy dish. A variety of foods contain one or more types of sugar, and all types of sugars can promote dental decay. Fruits, a few vegetables and most milk products have at least one type of sugar.

Sugar can be found in many processed foods, even some that do not taste sweet.

For example, a peanut butter and jelly sandwich not only has sugar in the jelly, but may have sugar added to the peanut butter. Sugar is also added to such condiments as catsup and salad dressings.

Q. When should I start cleaning my baby's teeth?

A. The sooner the better! Starting at birth, clean your baby's gums with a clean damp wash cloth. Use a tiny dab of fluoride toothpaste if your pediatric dentist advises fluoride protection.

Later, brush your child's teeth with fluoride toothpaste and a small, soft-bristled toothbrush. Remember that most small children do not have the dexterity to brush their teeth effectively.

Q. Any advice on teething?

A. From six months to age 3, your child may have sore gums when teeth erupt. Many babies like a clean teething ring, cool spoon or cold wet wash cloth.

Some parents swear by a chilled teething ring; others simply rub the baby's gums with a clean finger.

Q. Should I worry about thumb or finger sucking?

A. Thumb sucking is perfectly normal for infants; most stop by age 2. If your child doesn't, discourage it after age 4.

Prolonged thumb sucking can create crowded, crooked teeth or bite problems. Your pediatric dentist will be glad to suggest ways to address a prolonged thumb-sucking habit.

Editor's note: Dr. Sonia Gutierrez, DDS, MS, Kids Dentist, and The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry can be contacted at 15 Commerce Dr., Suite 116, Grayslake. Call 223-1400.

Caring for the homeless

Goodwin, Adams receive Midwestern employee awards

Oscar Goodwin, longtime Zion resident, has been named 1996 Employee of the Year at Midwestern Regional Medical Center, 2501 Emmaus Ave., Zion.

Goodwin joined the hospital staff as a member of the transportation department in 1987. He is one of the first staff members many patients meet when they arrive at an area airport or train station. Goodwin has a remarkable ability to help cancer patients and their family members feel welcome and comfortable during a time when circumstances may seem difficult or overwhelming.

Goodwin oversees a staff of 21 drivers who travel more than 20,000 miles every year. His employees do their best to emulate Goodwin's warm personal style and strong commitment to customer service.

Goodwin moved to Zion in 1975, following a 20-year career with the U.S. Navy. Originally from New Hampshire, he is married and has three adult children.

A popular vote by staff members at Midwestern determined the employee of the year. As the award recipient, Goodwin received an engraved plaque and a vacation trip of his choice during 1997.

In addition to the Employee of the Year award, staff members at Midwestern also selected the recipient of the Art Fossland Award. The Art Fossland Award was established to honor a staff member who reflects the remarkable personal qualities of the hospital's president of the board of trustees—Art Fossland, resident of Winthrop Harbor, and the village's former mayor.

Judy Adams, RN, a nurse with the cancer program, received the award for 1996. Adams joined the Midwestern staff in 1968 as a nurse for the medical-surgical program. She is a team liaison, responsible for patient care as well as the management of 10 staff members of the nursing department.

Adams is one of the kindest and most endearing people, according to her patients. She is always there to greet patients and family members with hugs, smiles and kisses, and is a prime example of the "make a difference" care for which Midwestern is known throughout the U.S.

Adams and her husband have four children and they live in Winthrop Harbor. As the recipient of the Art Fossland award, she received an engraved plaque and a U.S. Savings Bond.

Oscar Goodwin, Zion, (center), receives the Midwestern Regional Medical Center Employee of the Year Award from Roger C. Cary, president (left) and Richard J. Stephenson, chairman of the board.

Hospice volunteer classes slated

Hospice of Northeastern Illinois (HNI) is in need of qualified volunteer assistance. Anyone interested in finding out about volunteer opportunities can contact the Volunteer Dept. of HNI at 1 (800) 425-4444.

Volunteer training classes for the first quarter of 1997 have been scheduled in two locations. The Elgin United Way Office will host the eight week sessions that will be held on Tuesdays from 9:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. beginning on Feb. 11. A second series of classes have been scheduled to be held at the College of Lake County on Mondays from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. beginning March 31.

For reservations or additional information about hospice services, support groups, speakers or volunteer opportunities, call (800) 425-4444.

YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

Hyperopia is the medical term for farsightedness. In this condition, the eyeball is usually shorter than normal (opposite from myopia, where the eye is often too long). This shortness makes it difficult for the lens to focus light from close-up objects clearly on the retina.

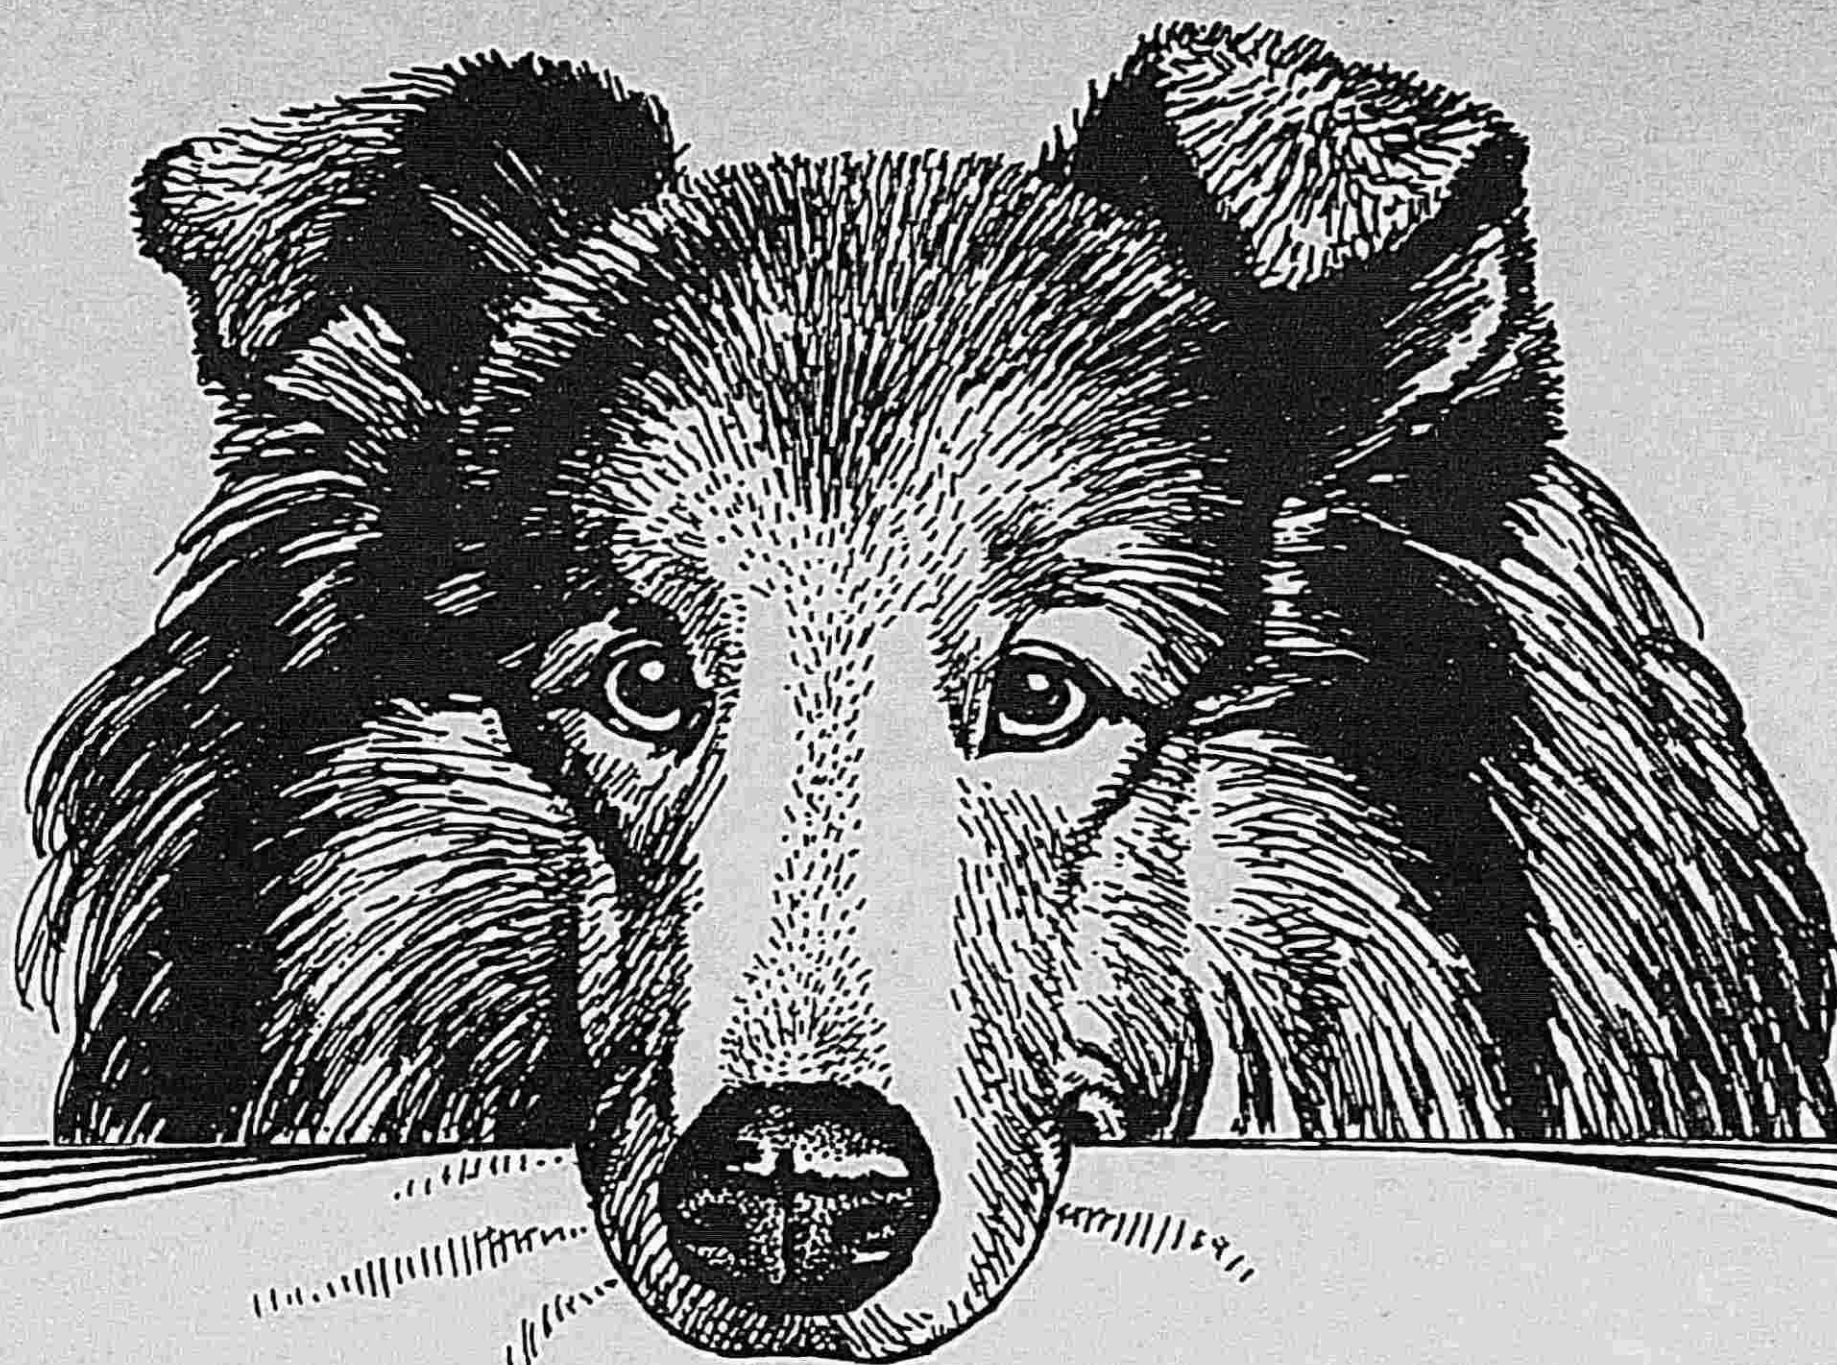

Normally, all young children are farsighted to a moderate degree, and the condition decreases during the teenage years. Young people who are farsighted usually see well for both distance and near, since the focusing ability of the lens is strong enough to adjust for the shortness of the eye. Sometimes farsightedness is associated with crossed eyes in children, since the muscles of the eyes have to contract tightly to see close up. Children's symptoms such as headaches and a lack of interest in reading may signal visual problems. Bring your child in for a complete eye examination.

WE MAKE SMALL BANKS A BIG BUSINESS!

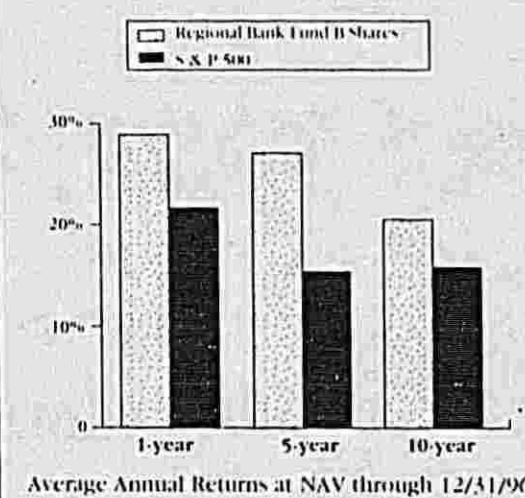

John Hancock Regional Bank Fund

The John Hancock Regional Bank Fund seeks to recognize the investment opportunities that exist in the regional banking industry, and to specialize in uncovering them. By investing in a diversified portfolio of regional bank stocks, as well as other financial institutions, the Fund seeks superior return potential from an industry that continues to be poised for growth. Its timely advantages are:

- ✓ Growth opportunities in attractively valued bank stocks.
- ✓ A chance to benefit from the increased merger activity that has led to the appreciation of many regional bank stocks.

Sector investing entails certain risks as outlined in the prospectus and is suitable only as part of a well-diversified investment portfolio.

+795.30%* Cumulative Return Since Inception!

Average Annual Total Returns as of 12/31/96	1 Year	5 Year	10 Year
Regional Bank Fund B Shares	22.85%	26.88%	NA
S & P 500	23.43%	27.28%	20.85%

*795.30% represents the total cumulative return of the Class B shares of the Fund based on change in net asset value with all distributions reinvested, from the Fund's inception 10/1/85 through 12/31/96. Average annual total returns include reinvestment of all distributions and reflect a maximum initial sales charge of 5% for Class A shares and the assumed deferred sales charge for Class B shares (5% maximum declining to 0% after six years). Investors should bear in mind that investment returns and principal value will fluctuate in response to market conditions so that shares, when sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. The S&P 500 is an unmanaged index.

☐ Yes, I'd like a free prospectus containing complete information on John Hancock Regional Bank Fund, including charges and expenses. I will read it carefully before I invest or send money.
